'Shoot for the Beef'

Firing line

Muzzle-loaded rifle enthusiasts line up to test their skills Saturday at Arrow Rock during a contest billed as a reenactment of George Caleb Bingham's painting "Shoot for the Beef." The event was part of the weekend festivities going on at Arrow Rock in observance of Bingham, a Missouri nineteenth-century artist. Thirty-five original Bingham sketches are on view at the Bingham home in Arrow Rock from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today. (Democrat-Capital Photos by Max Erkiletian)

Jackson campaign grinding to halt

SEATTLE (AP) — Short of money and votes, Sen. Henry M. Jackson announced Saturday that he is withdrawing from active campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination.

But he declared: "I will remain a candidate."

Jackson, who lost the Pennsylvania primary to former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, said he was ending "active pursuit of the nomination" by reducing his campaign activities.

"I believe the nomination is still open, although Gov. Carter quite clearly has a commanding lead," Jackson told a news conference in his home state of Washington.

A press aide, Brian Corcoran, said Jackson would be available for a draft at the convention — a position similar to the one adopted by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. Jackson said he did not intend to endorse any other candidate.

The 64-year-old senator said his reasons for pulling out of the campaign were "obvious."

"Simply stated, we are out of money," he said. "... I lost the Pennsylvania primary. I do not have the resources to continue the campaign."

Jackson's announcement was expected to leave the Democratic field virtually wide-open for Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia governor who defeated Jackson on Tuesday in the critical Pennsylvania primary. Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, whose only primary win came in his home state, remains as Carter's only major opponent.

When Jackson entered the campaign on Feb. 6, 1975, he set a course down the political center, believing he could be elected president by relying on his 35-year congressional record and a well-endowed campaign war chest.

He had raised $2.5 million for the campaign last year, but by last week he was traveling by train from Washington to campaign in Pennsylvania. The chartered airliner was gone; money was tight.

Stover woman killed in afternoon robbery

STOVER — A 39-year-old mother of three children was shot and stabbed to death Friday afternoon while she was working at the family department store here.

Two young white males, reportedly known to the victim, were charged with capital murder in Morgan County and were being held in the Morgan County jail on the charge in Versailles Saturday night. No bond had been set.

Lela Nolting, Stover, was stabbed at least three times in the head and body and was shot at least once in the head by an assailant using a .22-caliber pistol. Her body was found lying behind the cash register of the store by law enforcement officials.

The two men in custody are Steven Lee Carver, 20, Stover, and Robert B. Newman, 31, Stover. Morgan County Sheriff L. M. Earnest Jr. said Newman had reportedly been in Illinois for about a week before coming back here.

Milford Nolting, Stover, owner of the Nolting Department Store, said approximately $40 to $50 and various belts and pants were taken in the hold-up.

Earnest said there was no evidence of a struggle nor was any motive other than robbery known. The gun and knife used in the incident had not been recovered Saturday morning, he said. A spokesman for the Morgan County Sheriff's Department would not comment on whether the weapons were recovered Saturday night.

The incident occurred around 5:30 p.m. Friday, Nolting said, as he was leaving his store. His son, Wayne, 18, who had arrived home from college in Warrensburg about an hour before, had decided to work in the store that afternoon, Nolting said. When the two suspects walked into the store, Nolting said he and his son became suspicious of the pair, thinking the two might be intent on shoplifting.

Nolting's son then watched the two for a few minutes, while Nolting left. Satisfied that the two were not going to take anything, Nolting's son went down into the store's basement, Nolting said.

A few minutes later, the Nolting boy heard the two shots and, becoming ARROW ROCK — Against a background of summer green, men and women sporting three-cornered hats, bonnets and buckskin raised muzzle-loaded rifles here Saturday to bring George Caleb Bingham's "Shoot for the Beef" painting to life.

The event was part of a week-end long celebration of the end of an eight-city tour of Bingham work entitled "Bingham's Missouri." The 35-sketch collection will be on display in the Bingham home here from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. today. Admission to the exhibition is $1, with all proceeds going to help purchase a collection of 112 Bingham sketches for the state.

The collection was originally given to the privately-owned Mercantile Library, St. Louis, in 1868. At that time there was no public art museum or library in St. Louis.

Recently the museum announced plans to sell the collection, one piece at a time if necessary, at auction. However, the state has been given an opportunity to purchase the collection and keep it in Missouri. To that end, Gov. Christopher (Kit) Bond established Bingham Sketches, Inc., a non-profit corporation.

Mercantile Library has agreed to sell the collection to Bingham Sketches for $1.8 million, the lowest valuation set on the works by one of three independent appraisers.

The deadline for meeting Mercantile's price is June 30. Approximately $900,000 has been raised from the tour so far.

A print of the "Shooting of the Beef" painting was auctioned following the shoot along with a flint-lock pistol estimated to be over 200 years old. Proceeds from auctioning the pistol, donated by Friends of Arrow Rock, and the painting will be applied to the purchase of the collection.

The shoot attracted about 25 members of "black powder" clubs from across the state. Each contestant in the shoot dressed in a period costume and fired authentic weapons.

"Most of us build our own guns," Jim Keefe, Jefferson City, told The Democrat-Capital between the blasts of muzzle-loaded rifles at the shoot. Keefe is editor of Missouri Conservationist magazine and a member of the Howard's Bluff Mauraders, a muzzle-loaders club from the Jefferson City area.

Keefe, a veteran of a dozen years of muzzle-loader shooting, explained scoring for the meet. Osage County rules were in effect, according to Keefe, which meant that 39 points were needed to win. Each shooter is given three shots "for meet." Two practice shots are also allowed. Each shot lodged inside a one-inch diameter white circle scored 13 points. Keefe speculated that "If you don't score at least 37 points with the people we have here, you're just not in the running. We have some real fine shooters here."

The two practice shots are to allow the contestants to determine "where the gun is shooting," said Keefe. He said rifles will fire differently on different occasions.

One of the biggest factors muzzle-loader enthusiasts have to contend with is weather conditions. In fact, Keefe says the only differences between muzzle-loaders and today's weapons are weather "and you can't reload as fast."

Weather becomes a factor when the air is heavy with moisture, according to Keefe. The moisture affects the powder and makes it too damp to ignite.

Keefe said there are two types of muzzle-loaded rifles, percussion and flint-lock.

The hammer of a percussion rifle strikes a "nipple" sending fire from an ignited powder into the barrel where the cap explodes sending the ball to its mark.

The flint-lock rifle consists of a hammer which holds a piece of flint. When the trigger is squeezed, the hammer draws forward striking an upright piece of metal just above a depression by the barrel called the pan, which contains powder. The spark from

Cafe fire causes $9,000 in damage

Fire did an estimated $9,000 damage early Saturday morning to the structure and contents of Ken's Cafe, 16th and Ohio.

Ken Pabst, 2508 Margaret, said Sedalia police discovered the fire at 5:07 a.m. and called the fire department. A short in the building's electrical wiring in the storeroom was reported responsible for the blaze.

Although fire damage was confined to the storage room and its contents, Pabst said smoke damaged the whole building. The storage room, in back of the cafe, contained beer, vegetables and other food, canned goods, candles, napkins and other items.

Damage to the building was listed at $5,000. Goods lost in the cafe were reported to be worth $4,000.

Three Sedalia fire department pumpers responded to the fire and stayed until "a little after 6:30," Pabst said. Two firefighters, Melvin Lange, 1715 East Fifth, and Joseph Kowalski, 300 North Engineer, suffered minor injuries fighting the blaze but did not require hospitalization.

Pabst said parts of the storage room wall and the cafe's ceiling were also damaged. The building, owned by Ernie Cummins, 1120 Wilkerson, is covered by fire insurance, Pabst said.

The cafe was partially open for business Saturday morning and was serving some food late Saturday afternoon.

Session marked by talk, late nights

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A filibuster in the Senate and the House's 11th hour approval of a bill revising the Campaign Finance and Disclosure law marked the end of the 1976 regular session of the Missouri Legislature Friday night.

In the final hours of the four-month session, bills sent to the desk of Gov. Christopher S. Bond included those establishing a tax study commission, revising the state's billboard law and changing malpractice insurance statutes in an effort to reduce insurance premiums.

Moments before midnight when the four-month session was scheduled to end, the House approved a bill which exempts minor candidates from the economic disclosure provisions of the campaign law, and weakens the provisions for other candidates.

If Bond signs it, and he's already given indications he won't, it would go into effect 10 days after the Aug. 3 primary election. Friday night was not the first time that the campaign law has occupied the last night of the legislature.

It was in dispute during the final moments of the 1974 session, when the legislature failed to approve it, and it ended up being approved in a statewide referendum later in the year.

But while the House was approving the campaign law change, Republicans Paul Bradshaw of Springfield and Richard Webster of Carthage were wokring to defeat a federal compliance bill which required the state to set up an agency within the Department of Social Services to track down runaway fathers and force them to pay child support payments.

The federal government has called on Missouri to approve such a law under the threat of the loss of $4.5 million in Aid to Dependent Children payments to the state.

Bradshaw and Webster conducted an hour's dialogue in the Senate at the end of the session, killing the federal compliance law along with several other measures.

After the defeat, Bond said that he recognized the federal government had severe penalites for those states which do not comply with the runaway fathers law.

"The legislature made a conscious decision not to go along with the federal requirements," Bond said. "Although I feel it may not have been so wise not to pass it, on the other hand I share their strong feelings that the federal government should not tell the states how to spend their money."

When the bill first came up for consideration, Sen. William Cason, presi-

Appropriations bill sent to governor

A $62 million appropriations bill that includes funding for three local projects for the fiscal year beginning in July was sent to Gov. Christopher S. Bond Friday.

The local spending proposals are $211,240 for the Missouri State Fair capital improvements, $600,000 in matching funds for construction of a vocational-technical building on the State Fair Community College campus and $85,000 for Bothwell Lodge.

The measure was a week behind the legislature's self-imposed deadline for approving appropriations measures.

Early today Gov. Christopher S. Bond signed into law an emergency appropriations bill totalling $62 million to fund state agencies running short of cash during the current fiscal year.

Bond signed the bill moments after the Missouri Legislature adjourned the 1976 session. It includes $5 million for the purchase of Marillac College for the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

"Marillac is clearly needed for expansion of existing activities at the University of Missouri-St. Louis campus," Bond said. "I'm signing this bill now so the school can use this space next fall."

Bond, who earlier had objected to the purchase of the campus because of the tight financial situation, said the funds were now available because of certain cuts in other areas including funding for a prison site which was expected to be built west of St. Joseph. That prison site was dropped because of legal problems involved in transporting prisoners over Kansas roads.

Included in the measure is $1.3 million in state payments to junior colleges, $1 million for a state program to vaccinate Missourians against a swine-like flu, $500,000 to set up a federally mandated welfare program, $10 million for state welfare payments for Aid to Dependent Children, $1 million for planning and land acquisition for a new medium security prison in the St. Louis area, $600,000 to help clear the clogged court dockets in urban areas, and funds to pay

Election-year session

Apathy keynote of legislature

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — What some called a self imposed apathy keyed the election-year session of the Missouri Legislature, replacing to a great degree the traditional fights between lawmakers and Gov. Christopher S. Bond and the predictable arguments between both houses.

As the 1976 session became history at midnight Friday, legislators walked away from mounds of dead bills and promises fallen by the wayside, closing out the regular work of the 78th General Assembly.

Comments about the session, which saw the first successful override of a governor's veto in 138 years, ranged from "fairly successful" to "mediocre minus."

"I don't think the legislature has to be busy every year," said House majority whip Hayden Morgan. "We've got enough laws on the books now."

Bond, in a postsession news conference, admitted the lawmakers had passed some good legislation, but expressed reservation about their overall performance.

"I'd have to say it was a lackluster session where the legislature refused to deal with some of the hard questions," Bond said.

One House member, Afton Republican Tony Dill, speculated the hesitancy to begin new programs and expand state government had something to do with the lack of action.

"I think there's a shift back home where people don't want any more

New taxi service plan favored

A plan to add a second taxi service in Sedalia got a favorable response from 72 per cent of The Democrat-Capital's readers who responded to last Sunday's Sound Off question. In all, 18 letters were received.

Readers were asked: "A second cab company has petitioned the City Council to go into business in Sedalia. Do you favor this step?"

One anonymous letter said, "I think Sedalia should have another taxi company. I think competition is good — it would even make the one we have better."

A reader who disagreed, and asked to remain anonymous, wrote, "I definitely do not agree ... The Yellow Cab and City Cab have always had friendly and polite drivers.

An unsigned letter read, "I can't understand why it is necessary for the City Council to have the say if some other person goes into the cab business. With no other means of transportation available in town, it seems competition would improve service very much. We do need some better service."

Another reader who did not want to be named had this view: "The Yellow Cab has been very efficient, courteous and prompt, and their drivers are dedicated to serve the passengers. There is not enough business for two companies. Another cab company tried and failed."

The rest of the letters all favored the second company. One said, "Traditionally, competition tends to keep prices in line, and upgrades the quality of services rendered. I've got no real complaints on the prices that Yellow and City Cabs charge, but I've got a few complaints about their service and the condition of their equipment. In general, their service is acceptable, but it gets pretty old sitting in a cab while the driver picks up and discharges passengers all across town, thus making an eight- or nine-minute trip into a 30- or 40-minute trip ..."

Another letter said, "Why should the owner (of the existing cab company) think he should be the only cab business in this town? The city of Sedalia doesn't protect any other business that way. What do they say, competition is good? Another thing, maybe the drivers of this new cab company, if they get to go in business, will keep themselves cleaner and neat so a person wouldn't be afraid to get in the cab with them."

And finally this response: "I certainly do favor a second cab company in Sedalia. The drivers are rude, unkempt, unhelpful, and will even overcharge when they think they can get away with it. One driver charged me $1.35 to carry me four blocks. He did not have to travel out of his way to pick me up, as I had hailed him as he was picking up another fare. When I protested the high rate, he gruffly said, 'That's the way it is lady.'

"Some of the drivers will not open the cab door for you, even when your arms are full of packages. They need competition. Then maybe things would spruce up all around. I will not sign my name nor give my address, as I am a widow ... and sometimes desperately need a cab and would be afraid of retaliation if they found out about my complaints. In other words, I could wait forever for a cab, instead of an hour," the letter concluded.

QUESTION — Petitions have been taken to Circuit Judge Frank Meyer seeking to establish a fire protection district in Pettis County, to be financed by a tax levy of 18 cents per $100 assessed valuation. It would serve all those rural areas that presently do not have fire protection. Should Judge Meyer approve the petitions, would you favor such a fire district?

K.C. firemen accept city proposition

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City fire fighters have voted overwhelmingly to accept a city-proposed 40-hour work week, and have called on the city to resume serious negotiations toward a new contract.

A memorandum of ageement between the city and Fire Fighters Local No. 42 expired at midnight. But union president John Germann said no consideration was being given to a walkout such as the one last October that left the city with a makeshift fire fighting operation for four days.

Germann said more than 90 per cent of the firemen who voted Thursday and Friday nights favored the 40-hour work week, composed of five 8-hour days. He said such a vote should lay to rest charges by the city that the firemen do not want regular working hours because it interfers with outside jobs.

Germann called on the city to meet with the union sometime this weekend.

Harry L. Browne, the city's negotiator, said efforts would be made to set up the weekend meeting.

Germann said the unresolved issues are overtime pay and the union's representation of officers in the rank of batallion chief and above.

Singer must rest after operations

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music singer Bob Luman has been released from St. Thomas Hospital after two operations to correct a ruptured blood vessel in his esophagus.

Luman, 38, is probably best known for his song, "Let's Think About Livin'."

"He's got to take it easy for quite a while," said his wife, Barbara. "The doctors don't want him doing anything. It will be a while before they will allow him to sing."

the flint striking the metal piece is designed to ignite the powder in the pan which burns into the barrel exploding the powder charge.

Should the powder in the pan fail to burn into the barrel, however, it will ignite in a bright flash. Hence the expression a "flash in the pan."

Keefe says many colorful expressions have crept into the language as a result of muzzle-loaded weaponry. One of the most popular terms to come from the use of such muzzle-loaded guns is "chewing the rag."

A cloth wrap is placed around the ball before it is stuffed down the gun's barrel requiring some form of lubricant for the wrap. Keefe uses a chemical compound called "Grizzley snot." However, before such scientific advances, many muzzle-loader riflemen simply place the cloth wrap in their mouths and chewed them until moist, hence the expression.

Reagan wins Texas race

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan won the Texas presidential primary election Saturday night, defeating President Ford by rolling up a runaway margin in delegate strength in the state he needed to fuel his challenge for the Republican nomination.

Reagan led for 92 Texas votes at the Republican national convention. Ford led for none. Votes had been counted from 24 per cent of the 5,565 Texas precincts.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter was the winner in the Democratic primary. With 28 per cent of the vote in, delegates pledged to support his nomination led for 85 national convention seats, those committed to favorite son Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen for only four.

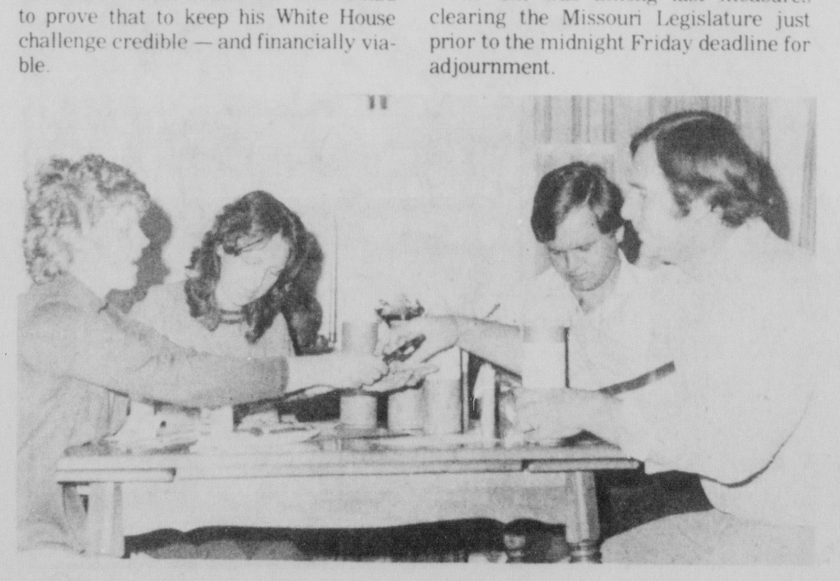
It was Reagan's second presidential primary victory, and it was a crucial one. He had said he could beat Ford in the South and the Southwest, and he had to prove that to keep his White House challenge credible — and financially viable.

Ford has won seven times, in two cases without opposition on the ballot. But the Saturday outcome virtually guarantees that he will have to reckon with Reagan's opposition through the balance of the primary election season, and probably all the way to the Republican convention.

Campaign finance bill 'shadowed'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The threat of a veto and the use of possibly invalid procedures shadowed final legislative passage of a bill intended to solve problems resulting from the controversial economic disclosure provisions of the state's campaign finance law.

The bill was among last measures clearing the Missouri Legislature just prior to the midnight Friday deadline for adjournment.



Fusing efforts

Mrs. Robert Liston, left, and Mrs. Larry Emery along with their spouses Robert and Larry work to construct firecracker donation canisters to collect funds for the first annual Fourth of July fireworks display to be presented on the nation's 200th birthday. Mr. Emery said tentative approval for use of the Missouri State Fair grounds for the display has been granted. The canisters will be set up in businesses throughout Sedalia.

Police still seeking 'strong-arm' thief

Police are still seeking a suspect in the strong-arm robbery Friday of a Missouri Public Service currier of a day's receipts totaling $600 in an alley between the utility company on Fourth and Ohio and the Sedalia Mercantile Bank on Third.

According to Charles Leighter, district accountant for MPSC, the robbery occurred as Richard Gimple, 1400 East Sixth, was taking the day's receipts to be deposited in the Sedalia Mercantile Bank.

Gimple was carrying the receipt bag by its strings when a man approached him from behind and grabbed the bag. Gimple attempted to hold the bag, however, the bandit broke the strings, Leighter stated.

As the robber fled, Ron Rouchka, a passerby, saw him and joined Gimple in pursuit, said Leighter. The bandit finally eluded Gimple and Rouchka.

Leighter said the thief "wouldn't have gotten so much, but Mr. Gimple was carrying extra money." The extra money, which totalled $300 or half the take, was to have been exchanged for coins.

Leighter said he felt the robbery might have been a fluke.

"I would say the guy was 99 per cent lucky due to the fact that we stagger banks and deposit routines," said Leighter.

He added that to have figured the company's deposit schedule would have taken a great deal of time and effort on the part of the robber. "He had to be either very shrewd or very lucky," said Leighter.

Clothes valued at $175 stolen here

The theft of $175 worth of clothing and other items was reported Friday by Cindy J. Block, 603 South Moniteau.

Miss Block told police she was away from her home on vacation when the items were stolen. She said the lock to the door of her room was broken open to gain entry and said she suspected her roommate of the theft.

Freddie C. Lawrence, 54, 666 East 13th, reported that he was beaten and robbed following an accident at Moniteau and Cooper at 6:44 a.m. Saturday.

Lawrence said he stopped to examine the damage to his automobile following the accident and was beaten and robbed of six dollars.

In other police news, Roenna Thomas, 1617 East 13th, reported an undetermined amount of money, primarily coins, was taken from her home some time Friday afternoon.

dent pro tem of the Senate, warned that failing to approve it could result in the need for a special sesson just to pass the compliance bill.

Both Cason and House Speaker Richard Rabbitt pointed to the mandatory sentencing for the use of a handgun and passage of a small claims court bill as the highlights of the session.

"It will be a very successful session when people take a look at what we accomplished," Rabbitt, a St. Louis Democrat, said.

Cason, a Democrat from Clinton, said the legislature "paid the bills, which is the main purpose of our short four month session."

Artillery battles rage in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Savage artilley battles and house-to-house fighting swirled through downtown Beirut on Saturday while political efforts to end Lebanon's civil war went into a new stall.

Police reported more than 100 persons were killed and 150 wounded in the clashes that erupted following postponement of a parliament session called originally for Saturday to elect a new president.

alarmed, ran out of the store through the basement door, driving to a near-by grocery store where he phoned his father, who in turn called the Stover city marshall, Tom Capps. Capps called the Morgan County authorities, Nolting said, to provide "back-up" help. He said Capps and the Morgan County authorities arrived on the scene about 5 to 10 minutes after the murder.

Mrs. Nolting was dead when the authorities arrived, Nolting said.

The two alleged assailants, meanwhile, ran out of the store to the parking lot in the rear, allegedly taking the woman's 1967 Chevrolet automobile.

Earnest said the two were later apprehended around 7:30 p.m. on foot about five miles north of Camdenton at the north end of the Niagua bridge on Highway 5 by Camden County sheriff's authorities. The abandoned car was found in a wooded area about two miles south of the point where the two were picked up, Earnest said.

The two were then transferred to the Morgan County jail in Versailles. Earnest said he planned to recommend the filing of two further charges against the pair, auto theft and armed robbery.

Nolting said the suspects were known by "everybody in town" and that one reportedly had a police record and a mental condition. Earnest, however, said Saturday that there was no evidence as yet to confirm the latter statement.

Nolting said he knew of no personal reasons for the killing, and that the robbery was the only apparent motive. "Why what little money they got it wasn't worth it," he said, "but then what would be worth it?"

The store, described by Earnest as a "fair-sized store for Stover," is located on Second Street in the downtown area here and carries clothing and other items. Nolting said the store has been burglarized a number of times.

Mrs. Nolting lived with her husband, Warren, on a farm about 16 to 18 miles north of here, Nolting said. She was the mother of three sons, the youngest only four years old.

Mrs. Nolting was born Sept. 22, 1936, at Freemont, Neb., daughter of the late Edward Grunewald and Nora Witte Grunewald. She was married Sept. 28, 1958, in Stover, to Warren Nolting, who survives of the home here.

She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church here.

Surviving besides her husband is her mother; three sons, Jeffery, Gary and Warren Nolting Jr., all of the home; and one brother, Dale Grunewald, Stover.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the church here with the Rev. Channing Miller officiating.

Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Friends may call after noon Monday at the Scrivner Funeral home here.

Kissinger proposes drought rescue

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Saturday proposed a $7.5 billion rescue operation to "roll back the desert" in a drought-devastated region of West Africa and appealed to the world's industrial countries to join it.

"What is needed now is a comprehensive international program that will help roll back the desert, develop additional water resources, increase crop acreage and build food storage facilities," Kissinger said in a luncheon speech shortly after arriving here from Liberia.

The relatively low-keyed stop in Senegal was Kissinger's sixth visit to an African country on his current two-week tour. He was to fly Sunday to Nairobi, Kenya, to attend the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development.

The United States is ready to open talks with other nations to set up an international development investment program to bring the parched sub-Saharan region called the Sahel to self-sufficiency, Kissinger said. The area has endured three devastating droughts in the past 10 years. Senegal is located on the edge of the Sahel.

Kissinger outlined an ambitious program for water conservation, reforestation, transportation, communications and scientific use of dry land areas, crops and livestock.

"Traditional aid levels and methods will not be enough," he said. "Nor can any one country or any single donor provide the resources necessary to meet the critical, long-term needs of the Sahel."

The capital improvements bill, which Bond deemed as most important, along with the emergency funding measure, includes funding for the new medium security prison in St. Louis.

Also included in the capital improvements bill yet to be considered by Bond, is funding for construction of a new law school at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, a nurse training facility at the Columbia campus, and a multi-purpose building at the St. Louis School for the Blind.

Car thief keeping one step ahead

One man took two cars from two local car dealerships in Sedalia Saturday, according to local police, however, the first stolen vehicle was recovered at the second dealership.

A man entered Pat O'Connor Chevrolet, 1300 South Limit, Saturday afternoon seeking employment, according to police. When he left, he apparently took a 1967 Mercury with him, police indicated.

Later, the auto turned up at Town and Country Motors, 3110 West Broadway, according to police.

The man reportedly asked an employe of Town and Country for keys to a 1971 Dodge Polara, according to police, and left. The man and the Dodge were still missing at Democrat-Capital presstime Saturday night.

big government," Dill said. "Until government can consolidate and bigest its programs better, people don't want them."

Sen. Larry Marshall, R-Columbia, said he thinks the legislature made a remarkable recovery during the final days of the session.

"Three days ago I would have said this session has been disastrous," Marshall said. "But in the past three days we have gotten some significant measures to the governor."

House minority leader Robert O. Snyder of Kirkwood said impending elections certainly had something to do with the inaction on several important pieces of legislation, but added that a sense of anticipation prevented any self initiative on the part of most legislators.

Question

My husband died recently; he was well insured and I am employed. I would like to put aside, for their education, the money our children are receiving from Social Security. May I do this?

Royals beat Yanks

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Steve Busby scattered eight hits in posting his first victory of the season and Amos Otis slammed a two-run double as the Kansas City Royals cooled off the New York Yankees 4-1 Saturday night.

Making his third start since coming off the disabled list April 17, Busby, 1-1, became the first Kansas City pitcher to go the route. He struck out three and walked two while permitting only two singles through the first five innings.

The Royals backed Busby with an eight-hit attack against Ed Figueroa, 1-1, who yielded three runs in the third inning but only one run and four hits the rest of the way.

Red Sox, Rangers

ARLINGTON (AP) — Tom Grieve and Jeff Burroughs belted three-run homers off Boston's Rick Wise to power the Texas Rangers to a 7-1 triumph Saturday night, their third consecutive victory over the Red Sox.

Bill Singer, 2-1, handcuffed Boston in the clutch, yielding Fred Lynn's second homer of the season in the sixth inning as the only damage. He finished with a six-hitter.

Tigers, White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Jason Thompson slugged a two-run double and his first major league home run and Vern Ruhle pitched a five-hitter to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 10-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Saturday.

Thompson, a 21-year-old first baseman who came up from the minor leagues a week ago, doubled off loser Bart Johnson after Willie Horton and Rusty Staub had walked with two out in the first inning.

The Tigers piled up a 7-0 lead before Thompson hit his homer in the seventh. He also singled in the eighth. Staub, Alex Johnson and Ron LeFlore each chipped in with two hits and LeFlore also stole four bases.

Angels, Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nolan Ryan allowed three hits in five innings and the California Angels broke a six-game losing streak with a 6-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

The Angels, who had failed to score more than two runs in any games during their losing streak, jumped to a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning.

With one out, Jerry Remy singled off loser Pat Dobson, 1-3. Bobby Bonds beat out a bunt and Bill Melton walked to load the bases. Remy came home on a wild pitch and Bruce Bochte singled in Bonds and Melton.

Twins, Brewers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's Lyman Bostock singled twice, drove in two runs and scored two as the Twins beat the Milwaukee Brewers 9-5 in a nationally televised game Saturday.

Bostock's fourth-inning sacrifice fly sent the Twins into a 6-2 advantage and reliever Bill Campbell survived five shaky innings for the victory to boost his record to 3-1.

Giants, Cubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chris Speier's triple and Bobby Murcer's single in the eighth broke a 1-1 tie and triggered San Francisco to a 3-1 victory over Chicago Saturday in a game marred by a pair of bench-clearing brawls that resulted in the ejections of the Cubs' Jose Cardenal and Bill Madlock.

Cardenal was evicted for throwing his batting helmet at Barr following an inside pitch while Madlock got the boot for going to the mound after being hit by a pitch. The Cubs protested the game because Barr was allowed to continue.

Gary Lavelle, 1-0, was the winner for the Giants, who snapped a five-game losing streak. Buddy Schultz, 1-1, was the loser.

Expos, Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Homers by Dan Driessen and Johnny Bench, his third in two days, and the eight-strikeout pitching of Don Gullett gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-1 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday night.

Gullett, 2-0, with both victories over Montreal, gave up a home run to Pete Mackanin and two hits to Bombo Rivera before being lifted in the eighth inning. Pat Zachary pitched the ninth for the Reds.

Cincinnati broke the game open with three runs in each the fourth and fifth innings, chasing loser Don Carrithers, 12.

Phillies, Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — Tim McCarver and Terry Harmon ripped run-scoring singles in the fourth inning and the Philadelphia Phillies held on for a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves to sweep a twi-night doubleheader Saturday and send the Braves to their sixth consecutive defeat.

The Phillies won the opener 3-0 as major league home run leader Mike Schmidt drilled his 12th of the season. It also was Atlanta's third straight shutout loss, one short of the major league record.

The Braves snapped their string of scoreless innings at 35 in the nightcap when Earl Williams slammed a two-run homer—his first of the year—in the sixth inning off winner Steve Carlton, 1-1.

The Phillies, however, had already scored three times off loser Carl Morton, 0-3.

Retiring

Len Dawson smiled during a press conference in Kansas City Saturday, as he announced his retirement from professional football. He will go to NBC where he will do football commentary and other things.

Dawson jumps NFL to NBC

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "I still enjoy playing," he conceded. "But after all, I'm going to be 41 and not 21. It's time to stop."

Len Dawson, who quarterbacked the Kansas City Chiefs to glory while becoming the top passer in National Football League history, announced Saturday he is retiring after 19 seasons and embarking on a new career in television.

At a hastily called Saturday morning news conference Dawson said he had finalized a three-year contract with NBC-TV.

"The details of the contract have not been worked out yet, but it will enable me to do much more than just football commentary."

Graceful both on and off the field, the articulate, boyishly handsome Dawson achieved immense popularity in the Kansas City area. For several years he was sportscaster for a local radio and television station.

He ranks as the No. 1 all-time National Football League passer with 28,711 yards. His 239 touchdown passes moved him last year into first place ahead of George Blanda among all-time AFC quarterbacks.

"The last three years I've had injury problems and it got tougher and tougher to get back into playing condition," he said. "I've been in pro football 19 years and I'm still able to walk away. I've never had an operation."

Fourteen of Dawson's 19 years were with the Kansas City Chiefs, beginning in 1962 when he joined the Dallas Texans as a free agent. The next year the Texans came to Kansas City and became the Chiefs and Dawson became the starting quarterback.

Dawson guided the Chiefs to three American Football League titles, in 1962, '66 and '69. Then he and the Chiefs reached the top of their world in January 1970 when they upset the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, in Super Bowl IV.

Flanked by his wife, Jackie, and Chiefs owner Lamar Hunt, Dawson recalled when he entered professional football as the No. 1 draft choice out of Purdue of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

TNB Kickers vie for berth in Midwest Cup semifinals

Play moves to St. Louis for the Sedalia Third National Bank Junior Kickers in the National Youth Cup Soccer playoffs.

The Kickers, who notched the Kansas-Kansas City Area Metropolitan championship 10 days ago, face the defending national champion, Imo's Pizza of St. Louis, in today's Midwest quarterfinal game at Mercy High School, 1000 Pennsylvania.

The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m.

The winner of today's game will face the winner of the Wisconsin-South Dakota quarterfinal game May 16. A location and a time for that game will be announced later.

Today's other Midwestern quarterfinal games pit the Ohio champion against the Michigan champion, and the Illinois winner against the Ohio-Indiana regional titlest.

The TNB Kickers, who currently lead the eastern division standing of the Heart of America Soccer League, are undefeated this spring and take a 10-0 record into today's contest.

The Kickers will resume league play Thursday in Kansas City's Swope Park against Good Karma. Good Karma is also undefeated in league play and is on top of the western division standings.

CMSU blanks Ming kickers

The Sedalia Ming Senior Kickers were shutout 4-0 by Central Missouri State University in a soccer game played in Sedalia Saturday.

Goalie William Mejia had 11 saves for the winners, while Tom Browning stopped 14 for Ming.

Jeff Wolfe, Bob Fullerton, Tom Medlock and Tom Koontz each had a goal for CMSC.

Ming travels to Kansas City Sunday for a game against Cruz Azul at noon.

Turkey hunters score Friday

Two Sedalia hunters reported wild turkey kills Friday.

Stanley Jobe, 3205 South Park, and Jim Binnie of 419 North Prospect killed their turkeys about an hour apart near Cole Camp Creek Friday morning.

Jobe's was a 21-pounder; Binnie's kill weighed in at 20 pounds.

Big field expected

Mo. Spring Championships get green this afternoon

A combined field of more than 70 cars is expected this afternoon for Hassler and Associates Racing Enterprises, Inc., super-sprint and late model stock car program on the half-mile dirt track on the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

The event, the first still date for HARE here in Sedalia this year, is being billed as the Missouri Spring Championships and carries a combined total purse of $3,500.

Gates to the grandstand will open at noon. Warm-ups are set for 1:30 p.m. with the first qualifying heat race slated for 2:30 p.m.

Many of the area's top drivers are expected for the event, which will see the winner of the sprint feature picking up $400. The winner of the late model feature event is guaranteed $300.

One of the entries in the sprint division is Jay Lyle of Warrensburg, who carried a slim, 10-point lead into last night's regular weekly show at Capital Speedway north of Jefferson City. Lyle held the lead in the Missouri Sprint Car Association early-season standings over Holts Summit's Gary Scott.

Scott was the overall points champion at the Missouri Sprint Nationals last summer on the Fairgrounds and is one of central-Missouri's most promising young drivers.

Also in the field of sprinters will be last year's International Motor Contest Association rookie of the year Phil Howe of Jacksonville, Ill.

Another promising young driver expected in this afternoon's race is Roy Comstock of Versailles, who will be behind the wheel of the Larry Hammen Chevy-powered sprinter out of California.

Promoters last month said that defending Knoxville, Iowa, National Supermodified champion Eddie Leavitt of Kearney, Mo., would be in the field, however, his status for this afternoon was not definate.

In the late model stock car field, last year's points champion at Capital Speedway, Losson Leonard of Jefferson City heads what is expected to be a strong list of central-Missouri entries.

Ed Knaebel, also of Jefferson City, will be in the field, while other late model drivers expected include "Flea" Atkin of Holts Summit, Eddie Gray of Jefferson City and Bill Myers of East Alton, Ill.

Dalton Walker of Curryville, a feature winner already this year, will also be in the field.

The qualifying heat races are scheduled for eight laps each. Consolation features, both of which will also be eight laps, are slated in each division. The feature races will be 25 laps.

Running for the roses

Bold Forbes, ridden by jockey Angel Cordero Jr., beat out favorite Honest Pleasure in the 102nd running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday afternoon. Bold Forbes covered the mile and one-quarter distance in 2:01. (AP Wirephoto)

Jockey blames no one for disappointing loss

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "The little horse was just too game—I couldn't catch him," a somber and disappointed Braulio Baeza said Saturday after failing to guide odds-on favorite Honest Pleasure to victory in the 102nd Kentucky Derby.

The little horse was Bold Forbes, a dark bay cannonball that burst to the front and staved off Honest Pleasure's strongest challenge to win by a length.

Baeza, the country's top jockey in 1975, refused to blame his pre-game put-down by trainer LeRoy Jolley for his disappointing failure.

"I rode the horse—he didn't," the 36-year-old Panamanian said. "I followed his instructions.

"He told me to lay back in second or third during the early part of the race. I did just what he told me. But when I made my move turning into the stretch the little horse kept going.

"He surprised me. He is a gutty little horse."

An apparent freeze in relations between jockey and trainer of the Derby favorite surfaced 48 hours before the race when Jolley erased Baeza's name as rider in entering Honest Pleasure Thursday and wrote "no boy."

The act created considerable confusion before Jolley, after being pressured by Churchill Downs officials, announced Baeza as the rider.

Both Jolley and the horse's owner, Bertram Firestone, shrugged off the incident as an "oversight." Track insiders said the misunderstanding ran deeper than that.

There were reports that Baeza, who had ridden the colt to eight victories, might be replaced in the saddle for the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, the remaining two jewels of racing's Triple Crown for 3-year-olds.

But Jolley said after the race: "Baeza raced a perfect race. I have no complaints."

Asked if he wanted another shot at Bold Forbes, Baeza shrugged his shoulders.

"I guess so."

Asked if he expected to continue riding Honest Pleasure in the remaining major events, the impassive Panamanian again showed little emotion: "Who knows?"

Unconfirmed reports were that Jolley was seeking to lure the veteran Willie Shoemaker from the West Coast to take over Honest Pleasure's reins.

Kentucky Derby

Bold Forbes wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bold Forbes, the spunky little horse from Puerto Rico, smashed Honest Pleasure's balloon Saturday afternoon by defeating what some had called a super horse in a wire to wire victory in the Kentucky Derby.

Flying the red and black colors of Esteban Tizol, Bold Forbes opened a wide lead in the backstretch and hung on as Honest Pleasure made a gallant stretch drive.

Elocutionist, Eugene Cashman's Arkansas derby winner, finished third and Amano, owned by James Irvin, finished fourth.

It was Bold Forbes on the inside and Honest Pleasure on the outside, only a length apart, as they charged down the stretch through the green haze of a smoke bomb thrown on the track just after the race started.

Bold Forbes' victory made it three Derbies in a row for grandsons of the late, great sire Bold Ruler.

At the wire, Bold Forbes had a one-length lead over Honest Pleasure with Elocutionist another 3¼ lengths back and a gap of another 1¼ back to Amano.

It was, truly, "the greatest day of my life," for Tizol, who felt that way even before his horse won America's greatest horse race.

Tizol, 72, however, not only could not be at the Derby because of a recent stroke but was ordered not to watch it on television or listen to it on the radio.

It was the greatest of victories for a colt whose owners once thought might never race at all.

Enrique Ubarri, one of Tizol's neighbors, who gets his horses ready for the races, said Bold Forbes was "one of the most backward" yearlings sent to his farm two years ago.

"He showed no signs of speed and did not seem to like racing," Ubarri said.

He simply had his owners—and everyone else—fooled.

In his first start, he was a 35-1 shot and neither the owner, the trainer nor the jockey bet any money on him.

He won by 17 lengths. And he scored by much lesser odds in seven of his eight races as a 2-year-old.

His time in the Derby was 2:013-5 for the 1¼ miles, and he returned $8, $2.40 and $2.60. The Derby record of 1:592-5 was set by Secretariat in 1973. The 102nd Derby, worth $165,200 to the winner, was raced over a fast track, but under threatening skies. The showers and thundershowers that were forcast didn't make it to Louisville by post time.

Honest Pleasure, sent off as the first odds-on favorite in the Derby since Native Dancer in 1953, paid $2.40 and $2.20 when he finished second—just like Native Dancer. Elocutionist paid $2.60.

Behind Amano at the wire, in order, were On The Sly, Cojak, Inca Roca, Play The Red and Bidson.

Bold Forbes was bred in Kentucky, but immediately taken to Puerto Rico after Tizol purchased him as a yearling for $15,200 at a Fasig-Tipton sale in Lexington.

He was scheduled at first to do all his racing in Puerto Rico, but after he won five in a row, Tizol sent him to the United States and put trainer Laz Barrera in charge of him when Tizol's regular trainer, Bernardo Mongil, suffered a mild stroke and preferred to stay at home.

Bold Forbes suffered only a mild setback in his racing campaign when it was discovered last winter in California that he loafed when he held the lead. An inventive set of blinkers with holes in the sides of the eyecups solved the problem. And he now has won four straight.

Assistant trainer John Nazareth said the strategy "was to lay off the pace, but not quite that much. He (Bold Forbes) opened up about three lengths and two would have been enough.

Jockey Angel Cordero Jr. said, "I give credit to both horses. I want to thank Mr. Tizol for giving me this opportunity to put Puerto Rico one more time a little higher."

The crowd of more than 100,000 watched as Cordero, in the way he knows best—by winning—thanked Tizol, the man who gave him his start in racing 15 years ago at El Commandante in San Juan.

Jockey Braulio Baeza said Honest Pleasure "hesitated a little bit" when he saw the last dregs of the smoke. National guardsmen raked the smoke bomb to the outer edge of the track almost instantly after it was thrown, but the green haze hung on until after the race was over.

Armstrong leads Houston Open

HOUSTON (AP) — Wally Armstrong, given second life by the rain that washed out Thursday's play, romped to a solid 69 and established a one-stroke lead Saturday halfway through the $200,000 Houston Open Golf Tournament.

Armstrong, 29, a non-winner in his third full season of tour activity, broke out of a four-way tie to gain the top spot with a 36-hole total of 136, eight under par for two trips over the 6,977-yard Woodlands Country Club course, still wet from the rains that threw a kink in the tournament schedule.

"I'd hurt my left wrist, a sprain, in New Orleans," Armstrong said. "A few days ago I was seriously considering withdrawing.

"I'm real glad we had the rain-out. It gave me an extra day to rest."

Tournament officials and television executives were less than completely overjoyed, however.

Network television coverage ended Saturday with Armstrong on the 16th green.

PGA Tour officials had to schedule a double round of 36 holes for Sunday, which also disrupted the TV schedule. And, too, they had to establish the cut at 50 men—as opposed to the usual 70—in order to insure a Sunday finish. This annoyed a number of tour players and sent some of the game's big guns down the road, the victims of the low cut.

Among them were Arnold Palmer, who failed to qualify for the fifth time this season with a second round 75 and a 146 total. Double winners Johnny Miller and Ben Crenshaw also missed. Crenshaw had 77-151 and Miller 74-147.

Just one stroke off Armstrong's leading pace going into the double-round wind-up is Hubert Green, easily the outstanding player in the game this season, the year's leading money-winner and the author of a rare sweep of three consecutive titles earlier in the year.

The lanky Green lashed his way through the tricky winds for a 68 and a 137 total.

Hulking rookie George Burns, Barry Jaeckel and Forrest Fezler, one of three who shared the first round lead with Armstrong, were at 138. Jaeckel, son of movie actor Richard Jaeckel, shot a 69, Burns 70 and Fezler 71.

Lee Trevino, still seeking his first victory ever in his native Texas, shot a 70 and headed a large group at 140.

The steady little Armstrong, one of a tour group that conducts weekly Bible study classes in a motel room, hit every fairway, was on every green in regulation and didn't even come close to making a bogey until after the national TV cameras had cut away.

Then he had to struggle to get it home.

He three-putted for bogey on the 17th, drove into the rough on the 18th, missed the green in deep rough on his next shot, then came out to about three feet and made the putt that left him alone in the lead.

MU dominates track meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Missouri dominated the second annual Missouri Outdoor Intercollegiate Track Championships Saturday as 10 meet records were broken and another was tied.

No team scores were kept, but Missouri won eight of the 17 events. Southeast Missouri State took four first places, Northeast Missouri State finished first three times, and Lincoln won the other two events.

Missouri's Ben Plucknett, Southeast's Richard Wilson and Lincoln's Ken Harris each were double winners.

Plucknett won the shot put and discus, Wilson won the 100 and 220 dashes and Harris took the long and triple jumps.

Montreal gains 2-0 win over NY

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Guy Lapointe, Jim Roberts and Yvon Lambert scored third-period goals, and the powerful Montreal Canadiens stormed back from a 2-0 deficit to beat the New York Islanders 3-2 Saturday night. The victory gave the Canadiens a 3-0 lead in their National Hockey League semifinal series.

The Canadiens can clinch a berth in the Stanley Cup finals with a victory in Game Four here Tuesday night.

New York goaltender Glenn Resch—with a little help from the goalpost—had made first-period goals by Garry Howatt and rookie Bryan Trottier stand up until the Canadiens' offense got untracked and the New York defense disintegrated.

Howatt and Trottier scored just 1:15 apart in the opening session and Resch had been spectacular in blunting the powerful Montreal attack, which produced 337 goals during the regular season.

The third-period burst started at 3:29 when Lapointe took a pass from Steve Shutt and connected from 10 feet. And 8:31 later, with Montreal's Serge Savard serving a tripping penalty, Roberts pounced on a missed Islanders' pass and sent a 25-footer past Resch to pull Montreal even.

Then Lambert, who had hit the post just six minutes earlier on a clear breakaway, gave the Canadiens' their seventh consecutive playoff triumph with a short blast over Resch's shoulder.

Discus thrower breaks own record

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Discus thrower Mac Wilkins set a world record for the second time in eight days Saturday with a throw of 228 feet at the San Jose Bicentennial Invitational track and field meet.

The former University of Oregon athlete, now competing for the Pacific Coast Club, broke his week-old record of 226-11 on his first throw. It was first announced as 228-10 but reduced to 228 after measurement with a taut steel tape.

The weather conditions were ideal, just as they were a week earlier for Wilkins at the Mount San Antonio relays in Southern California, with a brisk crosswind blowing. John Powell, a PCC teammate of Wilkins, held the old record of 226-8.

Two-way tie forms for Tara Classic

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Jo Anne Carner shot a six-under-par 67 Saturday for a 36-hole total of 139 to move into a tie for the lead with Argentinian Silvia Bertolaccini in the $50,000 Lady Tara Golf Classic.

"On holes 16 and 17, I started hitting right toward the flag and I got so pumped up that I hit some unbelievable shots," said Mrs. Carner, who is seventh on the Ladies Professional Golf Association earnings list this season.

Miss Bertolaccini shot a 71 Saturday to go with her first-round 68.

Pat Bradley of Westford, Mass., in her second year on tour, shot a two-under-par 71 for a two-day total of 142, followed at 143 by South Africa's Sally Little and last year's LPGA's rookie of the year, Amy Alcott.

Last year's Lady Tara champion, Donna Caponi Young, shot a two-over-par 75 for a total of 153.

Iowa State women's track champions

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State ran away its third straight Big Eight Conference women's track championship Saturday by rolling up 226 points.

Iowa State had a pair of double winners as 11 records fell in the 17 events. Kansas State mounted the only challenge to the Cyclones, taking second with 186 points.

Kansas was a distant third with 40 points followed by Nebraska (30), Missouri (21), Oklahoma State (17) and Okalahoma (4). Colorado was not represented.

Iowa State freshman Debbie Esser, the American record holder in the 400-meter hurdles, took the 440-yard hurdles in a record 1:01.6 and the 100-meter hurdles in 14.7. She also ran on two winning ISU relay teams.

ISU's Sherry Edwards captured the 220 run in 25.4 and won the 440 in a record 56.8. The Cyclones' Peg Neppel won the three-mile in a record 16:23.4.

The meet's only other double winner was Renee Urish of Kansas State. She won the 880 in 2:17.8 and the mile in 4:54.

Ashe, Okker take third in WCT doubles

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Arthur Ashe and Tom Okker won 16 of the last 17 points Saturday and took third place in WCT's world doubles championships with a 6-3, 3-6, 6-1 victory over the defending champions, Brian Gottfried and Raul Ramirez.

Wojtek Fibak of Poland and Karl Miller of West Germany will meet the U.S. team of Bob Lutz and Stan Smith for the championship Sunday. At stake is $40,000, the largest doubles prize ever offered in tournament tennis.

Ashe and Okker picked up $12,000 for third place and the Gottfried-Ramirez team got $6,000 for fourth.

SC finishes third in Blue Springs meet

BLUE SPRINGS — Smith-Cotton picked up 70 points to finish in a tie for second with Hickman Mills in the Blue Springs Relays held Saturday.

Center High School was the overall winner with 97 points, and Truman High School finished fourth with 53 points.

The Smith-Cotton squad set a new meet record in the 2-mile relay. Victor Dabney, Dallas Smith, Tony Dabney and Bryan Kelchner combined for a time of 8:25.6

Bruce Kerr set a new school record, finishing second in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 14.3 seconds.

Smith-Cotton picked up another second in the mile medley, a third in the shuttle-hurdle relay, fourths in the sprint medley and distance medley, and a sixth place finish in the 2-mile run.

In all, 17 teams competed in the relays.

Ali wins title bout not popularity contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muhammad Ali may have won his fight with Jimmy Young Friday night but he didn't win the hearts of the nation.

Far from it. ABC, which televised the bout nationally, was beseiged by angry callers protesting the unanimous decison that allowed Ali to hold onto his heavyweight championship. Newspaper writers disputed the decision as biased or worse.

And many of the 12,472 fans at the Capital Centre in Landover, Md., booed the champion lustily after the verdict was announced. Ali was overweight and undertrained, and he had to struggle to get by the eager, quick Young, a former longshoreman from Philadelphia.

Some observors didn't think he made it. And even those that did thought it was a lot closer than the judges called it.

Dick Young, sports editor of The New York Daily News, wrote that Ali won "by the grace of three hero-worshipping fight officials...I believe many people, the voting officials among them, refuse to believe what they see when one of their superheroes doesn't function as expected."

Leigh Montville, writing in the Boston Globe, commented, "If the fight had been held on a street corner and judged by patrons of the nearest tavern, Jimmy Young would be the heavyweight champion of the world."

And Cooper Rollow, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, who had Ali the winner by a slim margin, wrote, "Ali looked more like a pauper than the prince of pugilism Friday night."

Many papers reported receiving phone calls from fans angry over the decision. But that was nothing compared to the hundreds of calls that poured into the ABC switchboard moments after the verdict.

"The second the decision was announced, the telephone operators tell me the switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree," said Roone Arledge, the president of ABC Sports.

"All of the calls were protesting the decision, many of them using the word 'fixed'."

Many ringside observors thought Young won the fight. The Associated Press had it 69-66 in the challenger's favor. But even those who had Ali winning saw it a lot closer than the judges did.

Referee Tom Kelly had it 72-65 on the five-points-a-round system in which the winner of round gets five points and the loser four or less. Judge Larry Barrett scored it 70-68 and judge Terry Moore had it 71-64.

Broken down by rounds, Kelly made it 10-3-2, Barrett 7-5-3 and Moore 11-4 all for Ali. The AP had it 9-6 for Young.

Young lost the fight but he earned himself $75,000 and a ton of respect. He will be heard from in the future.

As for Ali, he retained his title, picked up an estimated $1.6 million and kept the way clear for a couple of more big paydays before he retires.

'Whomever will may come'

Homosexual clergyman stirs furor

NEW YORK (AP) — Is avowed homosexual Brad Wilson an ordained minister of the Church of God or isn't he? The question has stirred a furor in the relatively small, doctrinally conservative denomination.

Reactions have upset some program proposals, exposed what a Church sociologist terms subconscious "fears" about sexuality, and raised the prospect of actual ouster proceedings.

As for Wilson's status, the answers have at times been varied and obscuring. But after two weeks of checking, officials confirm that he was never legally deposed from the ministry. But some contend his conduct in effect disqualifies him.

"There is no record of formal revoking of his ordination," says the Rev. Dr. Roscoe Snowden, director of Church Services at the denomination's headquarters in Anderson, Ind.

"But it doesn't have to be that official. He himself has forfeited his right to be a minister.

"The letter of the law may say he is, but the spirit says he is not."

Wilson, 36, of Miami, Fla., says his ordination was never relinquished, rescinded nor subjected to any Church review proceedings to his knowledge. The hostile reactions, he says, "speak very much of the low spiritual level in the Church. Many seem to forget that Jesus said, 'whomever will may come.'

"But the hypocrisy goes on."

What touched off the uproar was a three-sentence Associated Press item April 2 reporting Wilson, a "gay" social worker and Church of God minister, headed a new group, Evangelicals Concerned, to minister to homosexuals.

The report was based on a release from the group.

It is the first such group among conservative evangelicals, although such groups formed earlier in larger Protestant bodies and in Roman Catholicism.

A wave of protests by Church of God ministers hit the Anderson offices and some newspapers. Church officials initially replied — and wrote to the AP — that the ordination had been revoked. But subsequent checking found otherwise.

The Rev. Dr. Herschel Caudill, a Middletown, Ohio, pastor says a move will be made officially to depose Wilson at a Church meeting April 30-May 1 in Columbus, Ohio — the state where Wilson was ordained.

Dr. Val Clear, sociology professor at the Church's main educational institution, Anderson College, said the intense reactions to the Wilson situation unwittingly reveal among some people "a psychological questioning of their own sexuality. They're afraid to get close to the problem — afraid at what they might find in themselves."

He says the Church has "fled from the problem rather than integrating it into the ministry and has failed to serve the homosexual community. The Church hasn't helped them." In the past, he adds, the Church similarly refused to minister to alcoholics, considering them "pariahs," but now does so.

The Rev. Erhard Wolf officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Sam Fleak, cousin of the bride, was the organist and Mrs. Herbert Rittmueller was the soloist. Bouquets of white carnations, mixed greenery and a touch of mint flanked the altar along with two seven-branch candelabra.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dale Wasson, the bride wore a candlelight gown of chiffon over taffeta. In traditional styling, the bodice featured a scoop neckline and sheer Victorian sleeves. An overlay of Alencon lace enhanced the high bodice. An attached Watteau train fell from the back yoke to form an aisle-wide chapel length train. For her headpiece, the bride chose a chapel length illusion veil secured with a Juliet cap.

Mrs. Dale Wasson attended her sister as matron of honor and Miss Diane Klein was her bridesmaid. They wore mint green gowns in a floral pattern styled with halter bodices which swept into full floor length skirts. Ruffled capes were tied at their necklines.

Her long, fitted sleeves were trimmed with lace and her empire waistline fell to a full A-line skirt enhanced with lace and pearls. Her chapel length train was enhanced with lace and pearl accents and a bridal tierra of matching lace secured her three-tier short illusion veil.

Music opens new vistas

From a mother's lullabye
On through life we go
With music soothing, comforting
Bringing life a glow.
In home, school and church
Children learn to sing
Or some instrument they play.
'Tis happiness they bring.
Teenage years in orchestras
Or in the school band.
Music is a joyous thing
Over all the land.
Music of the masters
Through centuries has come down
Golden notes now shared with us
By musicians in our town
As over all the nation
In cities big and small
The beauty of rare music
Brings delight to all.
Lovely singing voices
Solos or in parts
Reaching out in tones and words
Stirring human hearts.
Music, music, music,
Each generation does youth find
For singing and for dancing
Its own special kind.
Some will live forever.
Some will quickly die
But music is a joy and peace
That we all live by.
Music brings us memories
As a certain piece we hear
Of a treasured moment
With someone we held
dear.
Dreamy notes remind us
Of a young romance.
The circus calliope
Or by which we used to dance.
Music in the churches
Hymns sung by the choir.
Or singing songs at twilight
Around a big campfire.
Music is today
Whether we're young or old.
It's yesterday or tomorrow
As we watch life unfold.
From the mother's lullabye
When life first we start Through the years to the grave
Music plays a part.
This is National Music Week
And as each year before
Helen G. Steele Music Club
Reminds us of this once more
It's a time to remember.
It's a time to play and sing
For in every phase of life
Music is a magic thing.

New mayor ahead, good record behind

Although there is some element of uncertainty in the effective date of Mayor Jerry Jones' resignation, it appears that the city's best course would be to wait until the Aug. 3 primary to elect a successor.

Jones announced his forthcoming resignation April 23; however, the expectation is that the mayor will be around until early summer. The city counselor has stated his opinion that the Aug. 3 election would be a "reasonable" date to elect a new mayor if Jones' resignation does not become effective until June or July. Mayor Pro Tem Carl Franklin would assume the office between the time of Jones' departure and the election.

Since the city stands to save up to around $5,000 (depending on the number of polls) in special election costs under this plan, it strikes us as sensible. The law, as far as it goes, requires only that 10 days notice be given before any election is held.

Prior to that time, of course, the Democratic and Republican Parties would be given the opportunity to come up with candidates for the office.

As are many Sedalians, we are extremely sorry to see the mayor depart in mid-term. We are convinced that Jerry Jones has been good for Sedalia, and the city will miss his services. Since the mayor's job continues to be a part-time one in Sedalia, however, we can understand his decision to accept a promotion with his company, which will cause him to move to Columbia.

In his six years as mayor, Jones has presided over some notable improvements in the city. Among these are the Municipal Building, two new fire stations, the community center, the hospital and airport expansions, the new Centennial Park pool and the Convention Hall renovation, to mention a few. Two city annexations also were accomplished during his administrations.

Jones has been a leader in economic development for the city, and has helped in getting significant state and federal grants to fund various projects. Initiation of a city recreation program, a new park and the creation of Environmental Quality and Art Commissions also were achieved under Jones' tenure.

In the fiscal area, the city adopted a highly productive sales tax, and correspondingly lowered its property levy and sanitation fee. Benefits for city employes have been expanded, although there is still room for improvement in salaries.

We have never questioned Jones' integrity, and believe he has consistently worked for what he considered best for Sedalia. The city is lucky to have had him.

Jack Ford: President will soften on pot

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Jack Ford has promised the pot lobby that his father will support decriminalization of marijuana just as soon as more states eliminate the criminal penalties.

"Don't worry, Dad's a pretty cool guy. Give him some time," said the President's son.

He explained his father's leniency toward pot smoking to Dave Samber, an official of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML), at a private meeting in March at Chicago's Tremont Hotel.

On the other hand, President Ford favors mandatory prison sentences and preventative detention for hard-drug traffickers.

But the President doesn't believe people should be sent to prison for personal use of marijuana. He wants more states "to take the initiative," in dropping criminal penalties, however, before he will openly support decriminalization, Jack Ford confided.

A White House spokesman told us the President is still opposed to decriminalization but has "an open mind" on the subject. Last fall, he called for less emphasis on enforcing the law against marijuana users.

Government studies show that it costs about $1,400 to prosecute a pot smoker whether he's sent to jail or not. Last year more than 400,000 people were arrested for personal use of marijuana, at a cost to the taxpayers of about $600 million.

But because marijuana reform is still a controversial issue, few states are likely to decriminalize marijuana and the President isn't expected to make any pronouncement before the election. Only eight states have dropped criminal sanctions so far.

Footnote: As have an estimated 29 million of his fellow Americans, Jack Ford has sampled marijuana. There are an estimated 12 million regular marijuana users in America. Jack Ford said he favors decriminalization but believes the issue should be handled on a local instead of a national level. He denied, however, he promised Samber the President would support decriminalization as soon as more states eliminate criminal penalties.

SOLAR SLOWDOWN: Solar experts believe recent breakthroughs make workable solar energy possible in 10 years. Yet the government appears to be doing everything in its power to slow the development of solar energy.

A new breakthrough in photovoltaic technology converts the sun's rays directly into electricity. With a concerted effort, this photovoltaic development could provide cheap, practical sun power in 10 years, experts claim.

Under this system, solar power could be generated right in the homes and buildings that use it. This would reduce the need for the vast utility power grid network, with the tangle of electric lines that now crisscross America.

It is precisely for this reason, solar supporters suspect, that the government is downplaying solar research. The giant electric utilities have tremendous political influence.

The solar division of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) requested $300 million from the upcoming budget. The agency's top brass whittled this down to $257 million before even submitting it to the White House.

The President's budget office then attacked it with a meat cleaver, chopping solar research down to $160 million. This was coupled, according to our sources, with a gag order.

The agency has even refused to tell Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D.-Minn., a solar sympathizer, how the original $300 million request would have been spent. Humphrey wants to restore part of the solar budget in hearings this week, but he can't even find out what research was cut.

In fact, one high ERDA official, Donald Beatty, has threatened to fire any employe who talks to Congress about solar energy.

In contrast, funds for developing nuclear energy continue to flow as freely as the Nile, despite growing evidence that safety and technology problems may make nuclear power unfeasible.

The powerful utilities, of course, are pushing nuclear power which they can distribute through their existing electric lines and sell to their customers for the customary guaranteed profit.

The President's top energy aide, Glen Schleede, is an avid advocate of nuclear power. His pet project, the development of "nuclear parks" around the nation, has already been funded for $10 million.

Schleede also has an ally in the budget office in the person of Hugh Loweth, who handles much of the energy budget. These back room operators, if they get their way, may slow development of solar power by an estimated 15 years.

Footnote: An ERDA spokesman denied that the agency had withheld any information from Congress. He said that the original $300 million request was "a wish" and that the agency never expected to get that kind of money for solar research. Beatty's outbrust, he said, was simply a reaction to the "childish" bickering that was going on between ERDA and Capitol Hill staffers.

SHAPP SEQUEL: We exposed wide spread corruption last January in the administration of Pennsylvania's Gov. Milton Shapp. As an example of the corruption, we revealed that Shapp's Turnpike Chairman Edgalio "Gene" Cerilli would be indicted on federal kickback charges.

The U.S. attorney in Pittsburgh, Blair Griffith, fired off a telegram to us, denying that Cerilli would be indicted. But we stuck to our guns.

Cerilli was indicted on March 25. The indictment was delayed two months, according to our sources, because of our expose. Shapp, meanwhile, has dropped out of the presidential race and has gone on the defensive about corruption in Pennsylvania.

Federal regulations tred on personal rights

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — It scarcely made a ripple in the news, but the Supreme Court last month agreed to hear a case that will write some new law in an old conflict. This is the conflict between the rights of the individual and the power of the state. The case involves a contractor and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA).

Kilpatrick

If I seem to write incessantly on this theme, it is because no other theme strikes me as having greater importance to the American people. Especially in this bicentennial period, we ought to be thinking long and hard about our fundamental rights and what is happening to them.

The agency known as OSHA, established six years ago under the Department of Labor, is one of a dozen such agencies that have sprung up in the past 10 or 15 years. Its beneficent purpose is to reduce industrial accidents by establishing safety regulations, making inspections, and imposing punishment for violation of the regulations. The purpose is admirable.

The same comment can be made about other regulatory agencies. We have a commission to police racial and sexual discrimination, a commission to protect consumers from hazardous products, a commission to improve the environment. We have agencies to exert federal authority over education, health, housing and welfare. All of them are well-intentioned; all of them perform some useful labor.

But where should the line be drawn between rights and powers? For an answer, it seems to me, we ought to follow George Mason's famous advice: We ought to "recur to fundamentals," which is to say, to the Constitution itself. This is the issue in the case of Frank Irey, Jr. Inc. v. OSHA.

The Irey company, based in Monongahela, Pa., was engaged in January, 1972, in performing an excavation contract in Morgantown, W. Va. A fatal accident occurred when the sides of a trench caved in. Inspectors from OSHA cited the contractor for violating a number of safety regulations. The agency imposed a $5,000 fine, which subsequently was upheld by OSHA's review commission.

I hold no brief whatever for the Irey company. An opinion of the Third U. S. Circuit suggests that the company may have been sorely negligent. If so, the company deserves to be punished or penalized as provided by law. Stick 'em good! But the key phrase is, "as provided by law."

The supreme law of our land says, in the forgotten Seventh Amendment, that in suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed $20, "the right of trial by jury shall be preserved." This is among the most venerable of our rights, dating to Magna Carta. The question is whether the government, in its zeal for power, has denied an ancient right.

The Third Circuit in November, 1974, split 2-1 on the question. On reargument before the full 10-judge panel, the court in July, 1975, split 6-4. In effect, the majority ruled that Congress has only to decree that a particular punitive proceeding is an "administrative adjudication" in order to wipe out the right to jury trial. This makes a fundamental right a matter of legislative grace. It permits an administrative agency to serve as policeman, prosecutor, judge and jury, and it makes a nullity of the Seventh Amendment.

Sooner or later, the Supreme Court will have to hear a different but related issue involving the rights of the citizen and the power of OSHA. The act creating OSHA undertakes to authorize the agency's inspectors to make unwarranted searches of private property. This, too, strikes me as an intolerable trespass upon fundamental rights. If OSHA has probable cause to believe that an employer is violating safety regulations, OSHA should be required to go to a judge and get a warrant. Such a procedure would not thwart the law; it would uphold the Constitution.

Granted, it never is easy to draw a clean line between rights and powers. A government without sufficient power to perform its legitimate functions is no government at all; but people whose rights are insecure are no free people. We ought to fight to the last ditch to preserve our diminishing rights — even to a caved-in ditch in West Virginia.

Today's thoughts

"Only be strong and very courageous, being careful to do according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded you; turn not from it to the right hand or the left, that you may have good success wherever you go." — Joshua 1:7.

"I believe the true road to preeminent success in any line is to make yourself master of that line," — Andrew Carnegie, American philanthrophist.

Historic Erie

Erie, Pennsylvania, is named after the Eriez Indians. The location played a key role in the War of 1812, being the site of the construction of the ship "Niagara" with which Oliver Hazard Perry defeated the British in the battle of Lake Erie in 1813. Erie was the location of the first lighthouse beacon on the Great Lakes.

Arguing their cases

Area residents discuss the reappraisals of their property with representatives of Continental Appraisal Co., in the Assembly Room at the courthouse. An average of about 100 persons a day have been talking with the representatives. The company hearings to discuss how the appraisals were arrived at will be held through Friday at the courthouse. Taxpayers still dissatisfied with the new appraisals will be able to appear before the County Board of Equalization in July.

Ratchford remains silent on charges

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — University of Missouri President C. Brice Ratchford returned to Columbia Friday afternoon without presenting a statement to the Board of Curators regarding a faculty resolution seeking his removal.

And the curators agreed it was too early to make any judgement on Ratchford, under fire from faculty and students for a controversial lobbying plan.

John Hall Dalton, a Kennett lawyer, said even if the curators had all the information they needed it would be difficult to make so important a decision on such short notice.

Faculty members voted Thursday 610 to 255 to express no confidence in Ratchford. A total of 928 of the 1,582 faculty members at the Columbia campus voted.

The curators, at their monthly meeting Friday, set up a special committee of three members to study the lobbying plan.

One of the board members, Irvin Fane, a Kansas City lawyer, said the vote by the faculty members at Columbia was most unfortunate.

"The faculty did President Ratchford a terrible injustice," Fane said.

"The vote may be a major step in destroying Dr. Ratchford's morale, soul, pride and dedication."

Several curators said they would like to read a transcript of the 90-minute debate before the vote was taken at Columbia.

Dr. Ratchford went to Rolla Thursday afternoon as the curators were gathering for committee meetings, saying his first priority was to make a statement to the board or prepare a statement for it.

He returned to his home in Columbia Friday afternoon without attending the curators' meeting.

Dalton said the university president was not feeling well Friday morning and his doctor had advised him that if he did not feel well he should not attend the meeting because it would be too strenuous for him.

Dr. Ratchford was in bed at least two days earlier in the week and was described as recuperating from extreme stress and nervous strain and some long-range after effects of the flu.

"I am not considering resigning at this time," he said after being advised of the faculty's vote on Thursday.

In other action, the board:

—Heard a progress report from chancellors on each of the four UM campuses on university efforts to attract and retain minority students.

—Approved renaming the Kansas City campus administration building Carlton F. Scofield Hall for the chancellor emeritus of the Kansas City campus.

—Approved preliminary plans for a Red Cross building to be constructed in the Research Park area of the Columbia campus.

—Asked the Columbia campus athletic department to reconsider changes in its long-range planning for stadium improvements. Essentially, the modifications scaled down planned improvements.

—Approved a 73-page research plan to complete the university's academic planning through the 1970s.

Decision on nuclear plant is anticipated

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nearly 14 weeks of hearings on a proposed nuclear generating station near Burlington, Kan. ended before the Nuclear Regulatory Commission Friday, with a decision on the project expected in July.

The hearings were part of the licensing process for the 1,150-megawatt Wolf Creek plant that Kansas City Power & Light Co. and Kansas Gas & Electric want to build.

They hope to have the $950-million plant operating in the early 1980s.

The state of Kansas and the Mid-America Coalition for Energy Alternatives have intervened in the case. They want to know, among other things, cost and availability for fuel to run the plant, safety factors, how soon the plant's electricity will be needed and whether cheaper or better alternative power sources are available.

Garfield wins top writer's award

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mystery Writers of America have awarded Brian Garfield their top Edgar Allan Poe Award for 1975, for his mystery novel "Hop Scotch."

Tom Wicker, a New York Times columnist, was awarded an Edgar for the best fact crime book of the year, "A Time to Die." The book is about the Attica prison rebellion.

Novelist Graham Greene recieved the Grand Master for outstanding contributions to mystery-suspense writing over a long period, and a special Edgar was awarded to Jorge Luis Borges for his distinguished contribution to the genre.

Agnew out pushing book

CROFTON, Md. (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew has broken a self-imposed silence of almost two years with a whirlwind round of taped television talk shows and interviews to promote the publication of his novel.

During a recent two-hour interview with The Associated Press, the former vice president covered a multitude of topics, most dealing with the writing of his novel, but always delicately steering the conversation away from his years in the Nixon administration.

Agnew's novel is entitled "The Canfield Decision," and is published by Playboy Press. It portrays a ruthlessly ambitious vice president bent on succeeding his lame duck chief executive, and the chain of events leading to a violent and unexpected ending.

Relaxing in his Crofton office of Pathlite, the international business firm he founded soon after his resignation, Agnew recalled those first few weeks out of office and how he decided to write.

"I didn't even conceive of the idea until about two weeks after I resigned. I didn't know what kind of success I would meet in trying to develop an international business. This was at least something I could do where I knew I could produce a product without the assistance of anyone.

"Over and above the money, when you go through a great trauma, you sort of start reaching around for something to restore your confidence in yourself — where you can say, 'I did this. Somebody didn't help me. I did it. I created it myself.'

"I couldn't practice law. I was disbarred, and I had no money. I was in the process of settling the tax claims against me which, had I fought them, I could not have established my business. I would have then been back in the media every day and nobody wants to do business with somebody that's publicized in an adverse way."

Agnew resigned after pleading no contest to an income tax evasion charge stemming from a grand jury investigation of kickback schemes in Maryland.

He said he wrote a novel instead of his memoirs in part because "I was too bitter." He added, "I'm hoping I can get started on (the memoirs) late this year. It will take at least two years."

"I'm going to cover my life, not just the vice presidency. I don't quite know how I'm going to put it together and frankly ... I'm not looking forward to doing it.

"I hope I'll have the perspective to do this thing. I hope I'll have the courage to do it and do it without it just being the usual self-serving account of one's life."

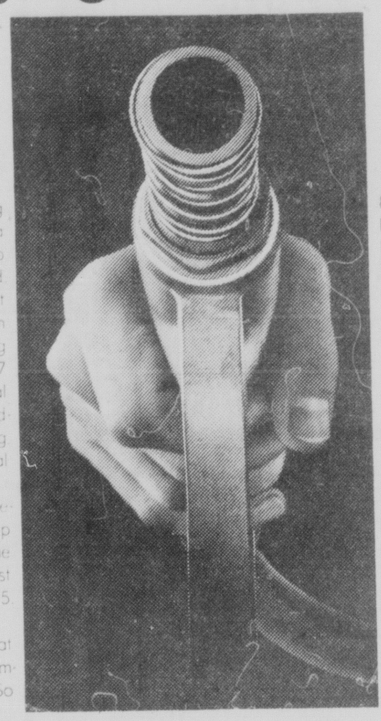
You don't have to surrender comfort and performance to get great mileage.



If you're tired of being robbed at the gas pump a new Volkswagen can help you turn things around. The standard shift Rabbit and Scirocco both got an EPA estimated 39 mpg hwy/25 city. Dasher got 37 mpg hwy/24 city. (Actual mileage may vary depending on type of driving, car's condition and optional equipment.)

Volkswagen doesn't believe you should be held up by a slow car, either. The Rabbit does 0 to 50 in just 8.2 seconds. Scirocco in 7.5. And Dasher in 8.0.

Volkswagen believes that people should be comfortable. Not engines. So 87% of the room in the Rabbit goes to people and luggage and only 13% to the engine and drive train. The ratio in Dasher is 86-14, in Scirocco 83-17.

Our engineers even came up with their own highway improvement program. All new VWs have rack-and-pinion steering, front-wheel drive, and unique rear axle designs for superior handling.

So if you're tired of high gas prices but don't like cramped space and poor performance, we suggest you put your foot down. On the gas pedal of a new Volkswagen.

Although all of the new Volkswagens have a great many engineering features in common, each car has its own individual personality. See your Volkswagen dealer for more information.

The best gas mileage.

Dr. Harold D. McAninch

SFCC names featured speaker

A former Smith-Cotton High School teacher who is presently the president of Joliet Junior College, Joliet, Ill., is scheduled to be the main speaker at State Fair Community College's seventh commencement exercises at 8 p.m. May 22 in the Agriculture Building on the State Fairgrounds.

Dr. Harold D. McAninch taught English, speech, debate and dramatics at Smith-Cotton early in his education career. During this time, he was nominated the Outstanding Speech Teacher in the Midwest.

As part of the commencement ceremonies, State Fair will receive its Bicentennial Flag from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. The college was recently named an official bicentennial campus.

State school site chosen, Bond states

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) —Midtown St. Louis has been designated as the site for a new state school for the severely handicapped, Gov. Christopher S. Bond has announced.

The new facility, which received $1.6 million in legislative appropriations, will be built on a four-acre tract adjacent to Harris Teachers College.

Bond announced the facility will be the tenth school for severely handicapped built in the state in the last three years.

Bond said the school will be designed to accommodate a maximum of 225 students with a student-teacher ratio of 10-1, scheduled to open in September, 1977. It will replace rented facilities in St. Louis County.

"Increasing the number of state schools for the severely handicapped in Missouri is an essential part of our goal to provide educational services for all our children, regardless of handicapping conditions," Bond said.

New court system is possible

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri voters will have an opportunity to change their state's entire court system next November when they consider a new judicial article approved Friday night by the General Assembly.

The resolution, approved only a few hours before adjournment of the regular 1976 session, provides for the establishment of a three-level court system, and eliminates special courts mostly in the city of St. Louis.

"Metropolitan area magistrates will be taken out of politics," said Sen. Maurice Schechter as he celebrated in his office the passage of his resolution.

In a way it was a going away present for the Creve Coeur Democrat, who has announced plans not to seek re-election. He has been working on passing the measure since the summer of 1973.

A special committee of the Missouri Bar first began a study of revising Missouri's courts in 1964. But legislative efforts in the past to approve such a change were unsuccessful.

Frustrated over the legislature's failure to approve a constitutional change prompted the bar to begin circulating petitions to put its own proposition on the ballot.

The threat of that proposal helped urge passage of Schechter's measure.

But the veteran senator said he hoped the bar would "buy his plan when its board of governor meets on Monday.

The resolution was adopted only after it was changed to the House's liking, so that municipal judges do not have to be lawyers.

If approved by the voters, it would go into effect in January, 1979 and would abolish magistrate and probate courts and make those judges associate circuit court judges.

In areas where the nonpartisan court plan is now used, magistrates would fall under the plan. The nonpartisan plan provides a system under which judges are appointed by a judicial commission and the governor rather than elected.

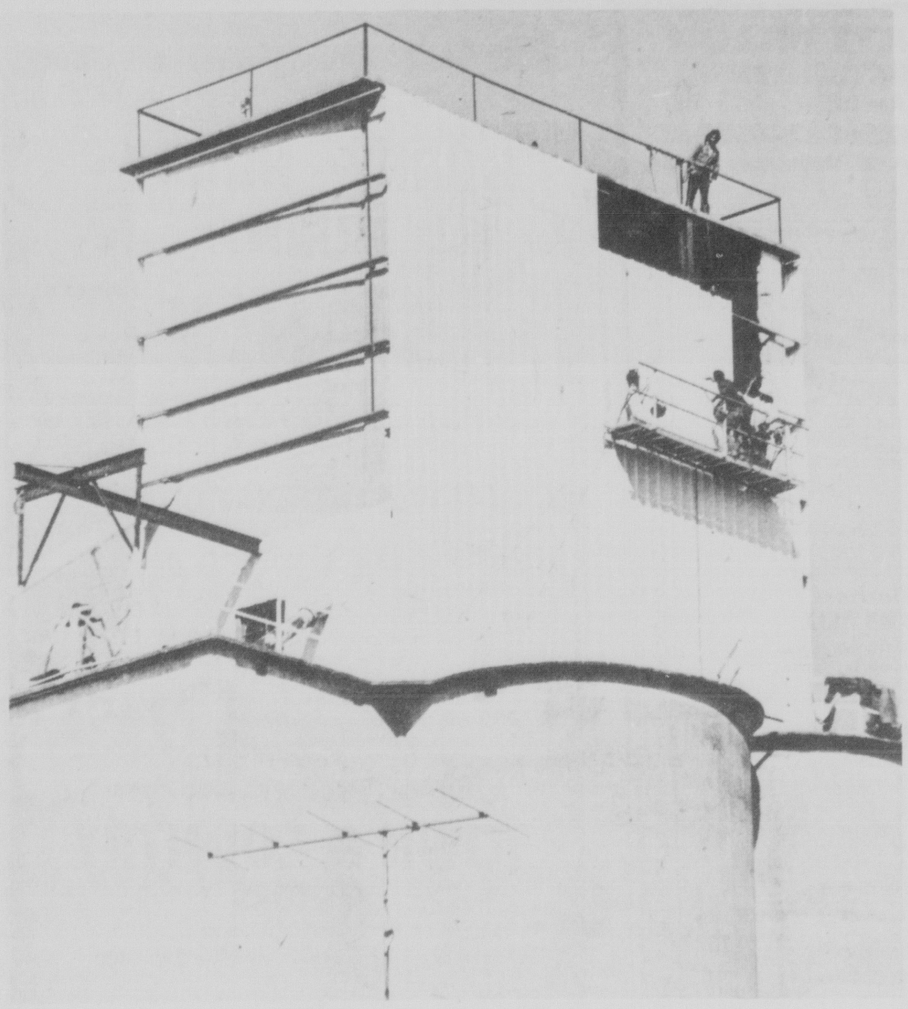
The plan is now in force in St. Louis and the counties of St. Louis, Jackson, Clay and Platte.

All judges under the measure would be required to retire at age 70.

It eliminates probate courts, courts of common pleas, the St. Louis Court of Criminal Corrections and municipal corporation courts.

Schechter argued that the court revision plan could speed up the court system, and give the Supreme Court greater flexibility in assigning judges to areas where they are needed to relieve overcrowded court dockets.

Calvin Coolidge was sworn in as 30th president of the U.S., Aug. 3, 1923, following the death of President Warren Harding in San Francisco, Aug. 2.



Up it goes

After tearing down the damaged wall of the head house at the MFA grain elevator on Clinton Road, workers for the N. E. Pierson Construction Co., Columbia, put up this new metal siding around the entire house. The head house and elevator were damaged by an explosion and fire Feb. 7 which injured one man. The elevator is expected to be ready for use in time for the wheat harvest in mid-June.

No action immediately on air base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any decision to shift personnel from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base in Kansas City will not be made before September, and would not necessarily mean immediate massive transfers, a Pentagon official said Friday.

The spokesman told The Kansas City Star Air Force members usually are given a 90-day notice when odered to change permanent stations. He said the Air Force also tries not to move families during the school year.

That statement coincided with a letter the Air Force sent Dr. James H. Shannahan, Belton, Mo. school superintendent. The letter said there would be no massive move of Richards-Gebaur personnel before the next school year.

The Pentagon spokesman said there had been no decision on the closing of the base, and there would be none before September. He said an environmental impact study on the proposed move would not be filed until August 30 and a 30-day waiting period is required before any decision could be made.

The Air Force has proposed transfering some 3,000 civilian and military personnel from Richards-Gebaur to Scott Air Force Base near Belleville, Ill.

English generally better informed

Patriot printers not above printing half-truths

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY
Associated Press Writer

Rebel propagandists scored a direct hit on London with their very first broadside in the American Revolution. They aimed to have the Minutemen's side of the Lexington and Concord story published in England before the King's and their efforts were successful.

Almost word for word the London press echoed the initial American newspaper report of the "shot heard round the world." From the sound of it there was no doubt who triggered the clash.

"Last Wednesday, the 19th of April," shocked Londonders read, "the troops of his Brittanick Majesty commenced Hostilities upon the People of this Province, attended with Circumstances of Cruelty not less brutal than what our venerable ancestors received from the vilest Savages of the Wilderness."

Well invented if not entirely truthful, the account came from the Essex Gazette in Salem, through the courtesy and conniving of the Massachusetts provincial congress. It had hired a light, fast packet boat to sail copies of the newspaper to England before British army accounts could cross. For 11 days the story stood alone, though in some quarters discounted.

Newspapers of the era, on either side of the Atlantic Ocean, depended for news on exchanges with other newspapers, on letters, government dispatches and word from travelers. London publications regularly reprinted the dispatches of colonial newspapers, though they were known for their anti-British bias since Stamp Act days.

General of His Majesty's Forces in AMERICA, the King's Commissioners for restoring Peace to His Majesty's Colonies and Plantations in NORTH-AMERICA, &c. &c. &c.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by our Declaration of the 14th of July, and 19th of September last, in Pursuance of His Majesty's most gracious Intention towards His Subjects in the Colonies or Provinces of New-Hampshire, Massachusetts-Bay, Rhode-Island, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, The Three Lower Counties on Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolina, South-Carolina and Georgia, Power was given to us, jointly and severally, to grant Pardons, and receive Submissions from any Colony, or Part of a Colony, which we should think proper; and We were empowered, in Case any Province or Colony, or Part of a Colony, should return to their Allegiance, and the Authority of His Majesty's Government, to grant a free and general Pardon, and exempt such Colony, or Part of a Colony, from the Effects of His Majesty's Displeasure, declared against the Authors of the Disturbances; And WHEREAS, notwithstanding the said Declarations, and the Example of many who have returned to their Duty, hostile Incursions of armed Men, in open

This is a reproduction of Hugh Gaines' New York Gazette of Dec. 23, 1776.

That would have been no news in London. Seeking to calm the public two days after the first report of Lexington and Concord was published on May 30, 1775 — six weeks after the fighting — the London Gazetter asked readers: "Will any man ... with common sense believe that 150 New England militia defeated eight or nine thousand regular troops and drove them like sheep through the country for six miles ... The brutal violence, the savage barbarity ... are all words designed to exasperate more the people of New England against the King's troops ..."

It appears that for the rest of the Revolution the English were generally better informed of its progress than the Americans. There was no organized coverage of battles by either American or British papers. But London printers were able to draw on official and more or less reliable reports to the King from the army.

Patriot printers often relied on slanted, and sometimes fabricated, tales from various participants in the battles. They were not above printing rumors nor were they beyond adding "facts" favorable to the cause.

New York, after its occupation by the British, became the center of the Tory press.

James Rivington's New-York Gazetteer was the King's foremost exponent. It had been one of the best newspapers in America until Rivington was forced to flee to England in 1775. Returning in 1777, he changed the masthead to Royal Gazette and soon earned for it the title applied by the rebels, "Rivington's Lying Gazette." It was free with its battle stories, carried bogus reports of quarrels in the rebel command and generally was unreliable.

Another notable New York Tory was Hugh Gaine, editor of the Mercury. Until the autumn campaigns in New York and neighboring New Jersey in 1776 he wore the mask of neutrality. But in December he became the compleat partisan, publishing this report:

"The shattered Remains of the Rebel Army, 'tis said, are got over into the Jersies. Humanity cannot but Pity a Set of poor misguided Men who are thus led on to Destruction, by despicable and desparate Leaders, against every Idea of Reason and Duty, and without the least Prospect of Success."

The war was tough on newspapers. On April 19, 1775, the day the shooting began, there were 37 in publication. Eighteen more were started during the war. Just 20 survived to print, in 1781.

"Glorious Intelligence! Newport, Oct. 25. Yesterday afternoon arrived in this harbour, Capt. Lovat of the schooner Adventurre, from York-River in Chesapeake-Bay and brought us the glorious news of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis ... A cessation of arms took place on the 18th Inst. in consequence of proposals from Lord Cornwallis for a capitulation ..."

It was nearly two years before the news everyone was waiting for arrived.

"A GENERAL PEACE. New York, March 25, 1783. LATE last Night, an EXPRESS from New-Jersey brought the following Account. That on Sunday last, the Twenty-Third Instant, a Vessel arrived at Philadelphia, in Thirty-five Days from Cadiz, with Dispatches to the Continental Congress, informing them, that on Monday, the Twentieth Day of January, the PRELIMINARIES, to A GENERAL PEACE between Great-Britain, France, Spain, Holland, and the United States of America WERE SIGNED at Paris by all the Commissioners ... in consequence of which, Hostilities, by Sea and Land, were to cease ... in America on Thursday the Twentieth Day of March ..."

Long root or not, dandelions are no match for you now!

What makes dandelions so tough? It's their long, long roots. Some grow down as much as two feet into the soil. Digging or pulling them doesn't work, since you can't get all of the root. And the part that's left just sends up a new dandelion to take its place. That's why Scotts TURF BUILDER® PLUS 2® is so popular. It gets rid of the whole dandelion—root and all (plus forty other weeds). At the same time, Scotts Plus 2 thickens your lawn with a full feeding of Turf Builder fertilizer. So dandelions and other weeds fade away while your grass grows thicker and greener, filling in where the weeds used to be.

Student reports

Two Pettis County area students were among those who received nearly $58,000 in scholarships, awards and prizes Wednesday at the University of Missouri School of Journalism in Columbia.

The awards are based on academic achievement, financial need, character and journalistic promise and performance.

Karen Denise Hurt, a sophomore from California, was awarded the $700 Hal Boyle scholarship, and Vicki Kay Marsh, a junior from Marshall, won the Dorothy Kaucher Memorial prize, worth $50.

Greg Boehne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Boehne, 815 South Barrett, a sophomore at Central Missouri State University, recently was chosen as a Student Government Association senator during an SGA election.

Boehne is majoring in business administration.

Merilou Schondelmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schondelmeyer, 1835 West Third, represented District five at the Missouri Junior Academy of Science meeting recently in Rolla.

Miss Schondelmeyer's scientific paper entitled, "Are you guilty? Antibiotic resistance," received a rating of excellence and a red ribbon. This entitled her to become a member of the Missouri Junior Academy of Science.

Academy membership is granted only to students presenting a comprehensive report of a research project and defending that report before a panel of judges at an academy meeting.

Three area students at the University of Missouri, Columbia, were among 300 4-H members from 35 schools who attended the recent 1976 National Collegiate 4-H Club conference in Columbia.

Those attending were Mary Simon, Route 3, sophomore agriculture major; David West, Marshall, sophomore agriculture major; and Barbara L. Beerman, Concordia, junior public and community services major.

Groppi marries English teacher

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Rev. James E. Groppi, a leader in the civil rights and peace movements in the 1960s and early 1970s, says he has married a 30-year-old English composition teacher at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The 44-year-old Roman Catholic priest said he and the former Margaret Rozga were married in a civil ceremony in Las Vegas last Thursday.

"Peggy has gone through the protest movement with me for 10 years and we are very much in love," said Groppi.

The British evacuated Boston on St. Patrick's day, March 17, 1776.

Goats utilized to combat fire in California

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — The National Forest Service is using domestic goats to maintain firebreaks in the brushlands of southern California's national forests. The goats are expected to provide an inexpensive and efficient way to prevent the spread of fires.

Goats were chosen, according to the National Automobile Club, because they eat brush not eaten by other livestock and because they crop it off close to the ground.

To ensure that the goats clear only the areas set aside for firebreaks, they are penned at night and closely herded during the day.

Spare the spare tire

The Phoenix Nest
Edited by Martin Levin

By DERECK WILLIAMSON

"Spare Tire Nearing End Of Road" proclaimed a recent newspaper story about Detroit's current efforts to get rid of the traditional fifth wheel.

According to one mogul of the automotive industry: "If we could somehow remove the spare and jack from every car in America today, just eliminating that weight would save nearly a million gallons of gasoline in this country every day."

To test his statement, I removed my car's jack and spare tire, then drove around normally for a couple of weeks. I didn't seem to be using any less gasoline, until I got a flat 20 miles from home. I had to abandon the car and walk, at a considerable savings in gas.

Something tells me that Detroit isn't as much interested in saving gas as it is in getting rid of the costly extra tires, and the space they occupy. Eliminating tire-space in compact cars would allow more room for passengers. People in back would no longer have to sit with their knees over their ears.

If your new car had no spare, you'd need a spare tire substitute, and several are in the experimental stage. One idea is the self-sealing tire, containing material designed to plug the tire automatically. Then there's the "little spare," a motorcycle-sized tire that would get you home, providing you could stand the pointing and laughter from the sidelines.

Unfortunately, a "little spare" would also take up a little room in the trunk. Another drawback is human nature. You know how it is with spares — you never get around to changing them back. Toss the flat tire in the trunk, and there it stays. The highways would be full of crazily leaning cars with odd-size wheels.

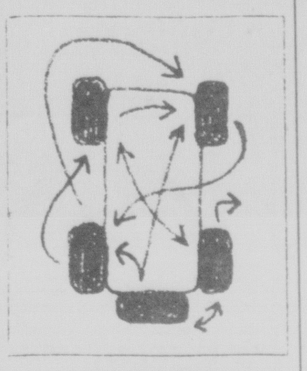
One idea being vigourously explored is the run-flat tire. "The race is on to develop a tire which resists small punctures and has the capability to run flat for some distance," according to a tire company president. He added that his firm has unveiled a crude warning system, not yet ready for marketing, which would alert the motorist to low tire pressure.

He didn't say what the crude warning system was, but I have the sneaking suspicion that it's a FLAP - FLAP - FLAP sound, accompanied by a one-sided pull on the steering wheel, with maybe some crude jolting and lurching of the entire vehicle.

I wish that car makers and tire companies would abandon their research projects, and allow the old-fashioned spare to stay. Happiness is knowing a spare is there. Besides, removing it would deprive car owners of the traditional twin sports of tire-pondering and tire-juggling.

The latter mustn't be confused with tire rotating, a complex do-it-yourself procedure allegedly designed to make tires wear evenly. A diagram purports to show you how. It has been printed in new car manuals for the past half-century. Scholars have yet to decipher it.

The diagram looks something like this. As you can see, even with the aid of a backyard crane to lift your car clear of the ground, tire rotation is impossible.



TIRE ROTATION

Tire-juggling consists of examining all your tires to determine if the spare could possibly be less bald than the other four and, if so, switching it with a balder one. The game is even more interesting if played with two extra wheels on which are mounted bald snow tires. A bald snow tire looks less bald than a bald regular tire, but isn't.

The second pastime, tire-pondering, involves opening your trunk and standing there for a long time just looking at the spare. Does it have air in it? How much air? If you get a flat on the road and put on the spare, will it collapse with a tired sigh?

And what does that little chalk-mark on the spare mean? Good? Bad? Patched? Cut? Plugged? Is there a repair "shoe" inside? A tube? If so, how good is the tube?

Like watching baseball and football, tire-pondering and tire-juggling have become Great American Pastimes. They must not be taken away from us on the whim of self-styled weight-watchers in Detroit.

It's time to organize a citizens' "Spare the Spare" movement. When buying a new car, "No wheel, no deal!" should be the slogan. The auto-makers will quickly get the message.

Maybe they'll even stop printing tire rotation diagrams.

Lloyd's of London not hurt by large layoffs

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Supertankers blow up or run aground, oil rigs sink and planes crash with big payoffs for the victims. All represent big losses for Lloyd's of London, the world's biggest insurer of ships and planes, but a spokesman calls them "a drop in the bucket."

In little over two months a super bulk carrier blew up in the Western Pacific, a brand new tanker ran on the rocks of the Brittany coast of France, an oil rig sank in a North Sea storm and a California court ordered payment of $1.5 million to relatives of just two casualties of the crash of a DC-10 airliner.

Some 300 lawsuits connected with the 346 who died in the crash near Paris two years ago are still pending and the final bill could come to more than $200 million.

The Lloyd's spokesman deplored the loss of life but he said the insurance business as far as his group was concerned was booming.

Three other British companies, doing business in the more prosaic auto, household and life insurance fields in the United States, however, reported big losses last year.

Insurance companies are notoriously close-mouthed on the size of losses that hit them, as well as the amount of premiums paid on policies.

Reliable estimates, though, put Lloyd's losses on the three maritime disasters at over $40 million. Lloyd's share of the Turkish air line's DC-10 is believed to be less than 40 per cent.

But when seen in context with Lloyd's assets, the losses don't amount to much.

The huge group, the spokesman said, has 8,500 members organized in 150 underwriting syndicates. Each member must place at the disposal of Lloyd's a minimum of 75,000 pounds ($150,000) before being elected to membership. That means a total of $1.2 billion although London experts believe the figure is close to $2 billion. In addition, the spokesman said, the group takes in annually in premiums on policies around $4 billion. Each year, a proportion of earnings goes into an emergency contingency fund which is believed to amount to several billion dollars more.

Since the Torrey Canyon, four supertankers, including the oil-bulkore carrier Berge Istra, 227,556 tons, have blown up — three of them within a two-week period at the end of 1969. All of them were empty and in ballast at the time except the Berge Istra, which was laden with Brazilian iron ore bound for Japan.

No pollution problems arose from the four tankers. Nor was any caused by the Olympic Bravery, 270,000 tons, newest and greatest of the Onassis fleet.

Built at St. Nazaire, France, she was on her way in the early hours of Jan. 24 to go into mothballs in a Norwegian fjord pending better times for the tanker business when she ran onto the fang-like rocks of Ushant just off Brest less than 200 yards from land.

Rock Island to repair rails

CHICAGO (AP) — Rock Island Lines has announced a multimillion dollar main line maintenance program for track in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Work will be on the track between Briark and Little Rock in Arkansas and on to El Reno, Okla., a distance of about 450 miles.

A spokesman for the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co. said the company hopes to spend $1.5 million a month May to December over the route, the financing to come from earnings and not loans.

Preliminary work has started on a 65-mile stretch between Briark, just west of Memphis, and Brinkley, Ark. It involves a method of treating unstable earth under the tracks by injecting lime slurry.

The next phase of the project scheduled to begin in early May is on the main line between Little Rock and El Reno. This includes new ties, resurfacing, correcting drainage problems and work on crossings and switches.

A spokesman said that when the project is completed by December the Rock Island will be able to operate freight trains at fully competitive speeds. The 1976 schedule also includes weed removal and brush control over the entire 7,500-mile system.

Tie replacement and ballast insertion in eastern Arkansas is planned for 1977, and 40 miles of continuous welded rail also will be laid.

The railroad recently was given approval by the U.S. Department of Transportation to issue $17.5 million in trustee certificates guaranteed by the federal government which must be paid back with interest. The spokesman said money from this source will be used to restore a program of normal maintenance from Chicago to Kansas City and south to Fort Worth.

A glimpse into the Nielsen television survey

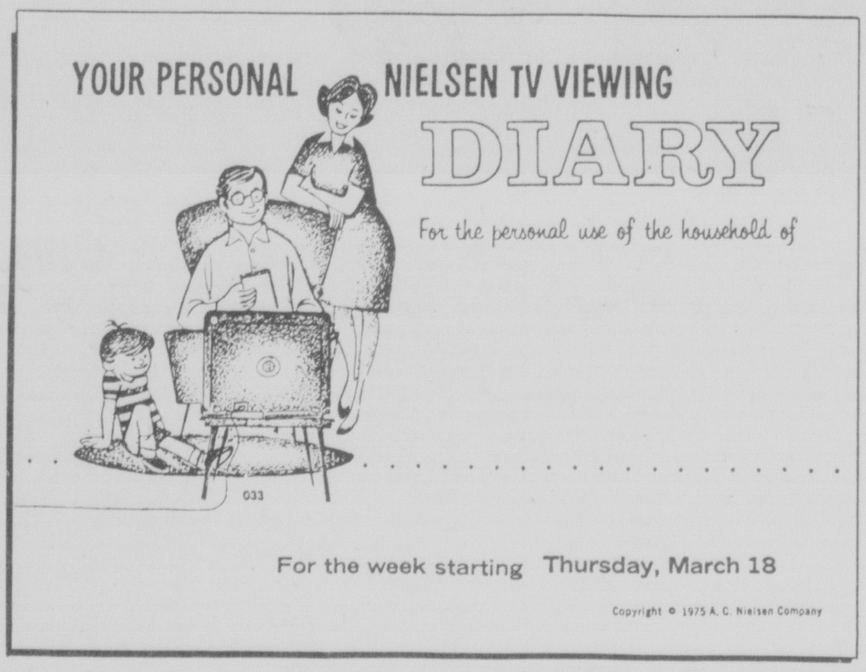
By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When the A.C. Nielsen ratings company asked a Manhattan family to keep a diary of its television-watching for a week, the young man on the phone accepted readily. He wanted to see how the system works, so he didn't tell the company that the man they were looking for — his grandfather — had been dead 11 years.

He only explained that his home had three residents and three black and white TV sets.

And so it came to pass that he, his 23-year-old sister and their 43-year-old mother each were mailed a Nielsen diary. It covered a period from 6 p.m. on Thursday, March 18, to 1:59 a.m. on Thursday, March 25.

They had become a Nielsen family in America's largest, richest television market.



Nielsen says it mailed 3,700 diaries to willing viewers in the New York area in March.

Each home to which the diaries were sent, Nielsen says, represents 3,200 households. The responses only will affect the ratings, programming and financial fortunes of New York area stations.

They aren't part of the national Nielsen surveys of viewing habits, which are done in two ways: One is with an Audimeter, hooked to TV sets in 1,200 homes. It records what is watched, but not who is watching. The other method is a diary kept by 2,400 across the United States. Each diarist records who is watching what and when. Each diary is personally delivered by a Nielsen agent who gets from each household data dear to advertisers — age, sex, education, income, that sort of thing.

Nielsen says the national diaries cover 34 weeks of viewing, with only a third of the 2,400 homes filling in diaries on a given week. The rest have to wait their turn.

By contrast, our New York area Nielsen family only got to fill in the diary for a week, no more. The family's fun ended March 25. The results of the survey won't be available to Nielsen subscribers until this week.

The family put down their age, sex, race, the non-English languages they speak — Czech and French, in this case — and the language they speak when together, English.

They also noted the number of TV sets in their home, that all three sets worked and that one was plugged in to both cable TV and to Home Box Office, a pay TV operation supplying recent movies and special shows.

And they put down that they can watch programs on seven VHF channels — three stations being network-owned — and four UHF channels.

For their help, they received a "token" of Nielsen's appreciation — four quarters.

We have given them false names for this article — the 21-year-old will be called "Jack," his sister "Jill," and their mother "Prudence."

What sort of jurors were they? Ideal, from one standpoint: Their age span was 21 to 43. The networks consider viewers aged 18 to 49 the most desirable audience. Such folks usually have more money to spend than other age groups.

Two other pluses: Each was employed and each was attending college, a good combination of spending power and better-than-average education.

A check of their diaries showed that Jack, Jill and Prudence had, over a week's time, watched a total of 42 hours of TV. Nielsen says that was about the average for a household in 1975.

But the networks didn't fare too well. The jurors only saw 12 hours of network programs, only 3½ hours of that in prime evening time, and they watched no daytime network shows at all on weekdays.

They also proved no fans of local TV news programs offered by Fun City's six commercial stations. They didn't watch any. Nor did they watch any early-morning network show, not even NBC's "Today" show.

But they did watch 10½ hours of non-network shows on cable TV or pay TV on the set in Jill's room, while 6½ more hours went for non-commercial public TV programs on station WNET-TV here.

The remaining 13 hours were spent watching local entertainment shows on the commercial network-owned or independent stations.

Prudence was the big public TV buff in the house. She watched 5½ hours of such public TV shows as "The Adams Chronicles" and "Bill Moyers' Journal." Her 2½ other hours were spent on Sunday, watching a pro tennis game on NBC by day and "60 Minutes" at night on CBS.

Six of Jack's 18 TV hours were spent watching pro or college basketball games on cable TV. He also spent another six hours watching "Star Trek" reruns on independent station WPIX.

He logged but four network hours — one night of NBC's "Tonight" show, and on a Monday night the "CBS Evening News" and ABC's "Buster and Billie" movie. He also watched one night of "Adams Chronicles" on public TV, and a movie for an hour on WNEW, an independent outlet.

Sister Jill, who works until midnight five days a week, spent only 5½ of her 16 viewing hours on network shows — four nights of NBC's late-night "Tomorrow" show, one hour per show, and an hour's worth of NBC's 90-minute "Saturday Night" program.

She also saw ABC's half-hour "Make a Wish" kid show on Sunday. Another 4½ hours went for two recent movies on pay TV, the rest on a one-hour local talk show and late-night movies on commercial stations.

She didn't watch any public TV, mainly because she was working during the prime-time hours the better shows of public TV are aired.

Prudence, a divorcee who works as an executive secretary and is studying economics at Hunter College here, was asked why the bulk of her viewing involved public TV instead of commercial programs.

"Because I find the programs are so much better," she said briskly.

We asked the three Nielsen jurors one last and no doubt foolish question: Do they consider themselves typical viewers?

"Obviously not," said Prudence, the public TV fan.

"I hope not, I really hope not," laughed daughter Jill.

Brother Jack was most emphatic that he wasn't a typical viewer.

"No way, because I know some typical viewers," he said. "And they turn on the tube and they sit there, and anything that plays they watch."

Few new TV shows for summer

NEW YORK (AP) — What's on tap for summer viewing at night? Not a heckuva lot that's new, excluding whatever happens at the political conventions the networks are covering and at ABC's summer Olympics show in Montreal.

As in the past, CBS is providing most of the prime-time pickings this summer, having scheduled five new variety shows and a situation comedy.

NBC has only one summer show, which stars John Davidson. It starts Monday, May 24, and will run only four weeks. But NBC says it may offer one or two more summer series in July and August.

As of now, ABC says the only summer series it'll have on tap is "Viva Valdez," a sitcom about a Mexican-American family. It's scheduled to start Monday, May 31, and last the summer. ABC also says it'll offer double-feature movie nights this summer on dates to be announced later.

CBS' six-show summer blast starts Saturday, June 12, when Dinah Shore starts an eight-week run of comedy and music in the time period now occupied by the "Carol Burnett Show."

After that, another singer, Diahann Carroll, will continue in the same time period for another four weeks.

On Wednesday, June 16, two half-hour variety shows will start a four-week run. The first show stars the Jackson Five, the second stars Kelly Montieth, a young comedian hoping for what they call the big break.

On Wednesday, Aug. 25, singer Frankie Avalon starts a half-hour variety show, followed by a similar effort hosted by Bert Convy of the daytime "Tattletales" game show. The shows will run four weeks, then withdraw.

On Sunday, Aug. 29, country singer Rohnny Iash, star of a country music series on ABC a few years ago, will try again for four weeks. Like his old show, his new program will originate from Nashville, Tenn.

CBS' summer sitcom, a five-week effort beginning Saturday, Aug. 21, is "Ivan the Terrible." It stars Lou Jacobi as the head of a nine-member family living in a four-room apartment. In Moscow, no less.

If you're interested in political viewing, the networks' coverage of the Democratic National Convention will start the week of July 12 from Fun City. Come the week of Aug. 16, the networks will offer us a look at the Republic national convention in Kansas City, Mo.

The summer Olympics? ABC, which got a tremendous boost in the ratings during its Jan. 5-Feb. 15 winter Olympics' coverage, is hoping to exceed those ratings with its efforts in Montreal from July 17 to Aug. 1.

U.S. plans to return aliens to home towns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal immigration authorities are planning to return thousands of illegal aliens to their home communities in the interior of Mexico instead of just sending them to the Mexican border.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service wants to find out if this procedure will discourage the Mexicans from making repeated efforts to enter the United States illegally, said INS spokesman Verne Jervis.

In an interview this week Jervis said the $2-million program would run for a test period of 20 weeks but that officials haven't yet decided when to begin it. U.S. officials say large numbers of illegal aliens who are apprehended and returned to the Mexican border later illegally re-enter the United States again.

The operation has hit a snag on the question of landing rights for the planes carrying the Mexicans into that nation's interior.

Jervis said the INS recently awarded the transportation contract to Cardinal Airlines of St. Louis on condition that the airline obtain permission form Mexican officials to land at interior airports.

"So far, they have been unable to get landing privileges" but negotiations are continuing, he added.

The contract provides for INS to pay the airline up to $2 million for the ferry operation, Jervis said.

Immigration officials expect that about 17,000 illegal aliens would be returned to interior points during the 20-week period, he said.

Jervis said many illegal aliens from Mexico who are simply returned across the border are left adrift without friends or jobs in border towns. And this may cause them to try once more to enter the United States illegally and live and work in this country undetected.

Huey Long was elected governor of Louisiana in 1928 and was assassinated in 1935.

Diabetes group to hold meeting

RUST

Rust can be likened to the common cold. But unlike its medical counterpart, rust continues its reign of aggravation largely on a foundation of ignorance — ignorance not of the methods of combating rust, but rather of the knowledge that such methods exist. Rust can be stopped and it can be prevented.

Two women who made it

Cabarets return to New York night life

New role

Nadia Gray, the actress best known for the striptease she performed in the 1961 movie, "La Dolce Vita," discusses in her New York apartment her new role as a cabaret singer. After 60 films without a chance to sing, Miss Gray is making her debut in New York's Cabaret world. (AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — One has a husky voice and is known as the "Deco Dolly." The other speaks seven languages and is a former princess. They are the newest attractions in New York's cabaret world, a scene fast cutting into the current disco madness of the city's dance emporiums.

Deco Dolly is Suzanne Dawson, a 25-year-old throwback to the days of black and white Ginger Rogers movies. The linguist is Nadia Gray, an actress known for her regal and aristocratic roles, but best remembered for the striptease she performed in the 1961 movie, "La Dolce Vita."

Both have put together cabaret acts as diverse as their lives. Their debuts here are first stabs at cabaret entertaining for both women.

At least four cabarets have opened in the city over the past year, including Triangle, a Western, cowboy style bar. Many night life observers say discotheques are going out and cabarets are coming in.

"There is a return to cabaret because people want and desire elegance now," says director Jay Binder.

The 5-foot-8 Miss Dawson, in slinky white Jean Harlow gown and precise art deco jewelry, arrives for her act at the Prive' restaurant in a chauffeur-driven limousine. She walks through the front door, "just like any other customer," she says, and the show begins.

It is a magical, madcap romp of the music of the 1930s, using the restaurant itself and a piano as the stage. There is one contemporary tune, "Prive' at Midnight." Other selections are by such greats as Cole Porter, Rogers and Hart, the Gershwin brothers and Noel Coward. There's also "Limehouse Blues," "Flying Down to Rio," "Smoke Your Troubles Away," and "Dancing in the Dark."

"The concept here is to make these people extras on an RKO movie set," said Miss Dawson, a native of Montreal. Waiters, audience, the hat check girl, maitre d' and bartender are all part of the cast. They are not professional singers and dancers.

Suzanne is spontaneous and wacky. But she started out as a dancer and not a singer. "Someone once told me, 'Suzanne, you're a good dancer, but you don't blend into the (chorus) line. You'll never get anywhere unless you learn how to sing.'"

So off she went to the Boston Conservatory of Music. She left after two years, she said, in order to plunge into the business with her first audition.

"I got up on the stage to sing and nothing came out. Nothing," she said, stretching the word with her tongue for emphasis. The reason? She had polyps on her vocal cords.

Following a laser operation, Miss Dawson had to relearn how to sing. But jobs were scarce.

"I hung around and waited tables," she said. "I became so frustrated that I started tap dancing on the subway."

Nadia Gray, who was born in Berlin and raised in Romania, never had a chance to sing in the 60 movies she's made.

"Some people ask me, 'Why are you doing it?' Well, I have needs that go further than necessities. When you're born with something inside, you must do it," she said about her cabaret act.

At wit's end

Number games

By ERMA BOMBECK

You know what they say. The metric system is like termites. No sense worrying about them until they get here.

Well, friend, they're here. Those creeping, crawling centimeters, grams and liters that threaten to put me in a size 142 girdle and a size 38 sandal have taken over.

The other day at coffee, Madelyn Murk the neighborhood gossip said, "Have I got a flash for all of you." We all sat there like a tableau — our coffee mugs in mid-air, not daring to breathe lest we miss one whip of her vicious tongue. "Remember Ginger, the hostess at the club who wears makeup a meter thick and stands around with her mouth open a kilometer? Well, she has this thing for Jan's husband."

"No!" we gasped in unison.

"Well, you know Jan," she continued. "All wool and a meter wide. She wouldn't suspect anything. Takes everything with a gram of salt. Played right into Ginger's hand."

"I don't know Ginger," said Mayva.

"You do too. She's always got the dry, wild hair that looks like she's down a liter of oil. Pushy! Very pushy! Give her a meter and she'll take a kilometer."

"Well, what happened was one day at lunch, Ardis said to Jan, 'Remember the old gent Ginger was after? The one with one centimeter on a banana peel and one centimeter in the grave? Well, she's got new action now. A married man! And you know something? He's sitting a scant hectometer away from us.'"

"Leave it to Ardis to put her meter in her mouth."

"Don't I know? She was never one to hide her ignorance under a hectoliter basket. Go on! What happened?"

"They looked over and, of course, there sat Jan's husband."

"What did she do?"

"Jan turned to Ardis and said, 'Judge no one until you've walked a kilometer in his moccasins.'"

"That's beautiful," said Mayva. "What does it mean?"

"That means you can go all over God's green hectare and you'll never find anyone with an avoirdupois of human kindness to equal that of Jan's."

"Believe me, if it were me I'd demand my kilogram of flesh."

"What's that in English measurement?" I asked quietly.

"A pound," said Madelyn.

"What the heck," I said. "Put me down for a pound too. Anyone know how to double a kilogram?"

Springsteen shakes

By LOUISE A. REID
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Familiar foot-stomping and hand-clapping rocked the Grand Ole Opry, no thanks — this time — to Minnie Pearl's jokes or Roy Acuff's "Wabash Cannonball."

The floors vibrated last week as Bruce Springsteen and his E. Street Band took the stage — the first hard rockers to perform in the 50-year history of the country music tabernacle.

The show almost had something of a country flavor. Springsteen had tried to get country singers Dolly Parton and Roy Orbison for his show, but both were busy elsewhere.

It was part of a maiden Southern tour for the 26-year-old New Jersey native who canceled a scheduled appearance here last fall because of low ticket sales.

Glen Brumnar, Springsteen's public relations manager, said a capacity crowd wasn't expected.

Chess is BIG in California

MORRO BAY, Calif. (AP) — Like a surrealistic fantasy out of Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, the chess player walked across the huge cement board and methodically moved a giant hand-carved chessman.

While members of Morro Bay's chess club played, tourists wandering by the giant board stopped and watched silently. Occasionally, a small, white dog scampered across the board — darting between the tall pieces.

The 30-foot-square chessboard and its three-foot-high chessmen make up a unique recreational facility along the waterfront of this small Pacific Coast resort town.

Morro Bay's recreation director claims the board and chest-high pieces are the largest in the United States. Chess federation officials report an oversize chess board is located in New York City, but it's smaller than the one here, says David Draga.

"The board's large enough we can use human beings as chess pieces," adds Draga, noting he may do just that as part of a summer children's program.

Credit for the project belongs to a citizens' committee and the enthusiasm of two avid chess players in this Central California community, Draga said.

A summer trip to Germany by Wachtang Korishelli, a high school music teacher, sparked the novel creation. He played on a similar board with plastic chessmen during his trip.

The citizens' committee obtained some redwood from two 35-year-old water towers torn down by the city.

Korishelli and Wayne Bickford laminated the redwood into blocks and carved the chessmen with a lathe they built from old auto parts. Bickford is a cement contractor, which proved to be an asset in making the board.

The cost — including a new stairway constructed nearby — was set at $45,000 including about $15,000 in donated material and time, Draga said.

"They put in over 400 hours during a two-month period carving the chessmen," Draga said. "The chess club also took an active part in sanding them down."

Players must reserve the board and chessmen 24 hours in advance and are required to fill out a responsibility form.

Financier Hughes' successor

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — With the death of Howard Hughes, the title of No. 1 casino owner in Nevada goes to financier Allen Glick. But Glick says he's not in the same league that Hughes was.

"I guess I might be considered unique in a lot of respects," says Glick, 33, who runs three hotel-casinos and another casino in Las Vegas.

"But an era is gone with the death of Howard Hughes," Glick said, adding that Hughes was a "big money" investor who often paid cash for properties.

Hughes owned seven casinos in Nevada. The clubs are operated through Hughes' Summa Corp., and with the recluse billionaire dead, they'll no longer be under the control of a single individual.

Glick has borrowed about $100 million from the Teamsters Union Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas pension fund to finance most of his casino purchases, which started in late 1972. He has borrowed an additional $50 million from the fund for land development ventures in Texas and California.

Glick said that in addition to differences between financing of his and Hughes' clubs, "Hughes' Nevada operations were just one part of several enormous enterprises.

"His casinos really amounted to a small part of his holdings, but for me, my Nevada properties are almost my exclusive holdings — so far," said Glick.

How does it feel to be the leader among individual casino owners in Nevada now that Hughes has died? "I don't feel any different than I did before, to be honest," says Glick. "And I don't really feel I'm stepping into his shoes."

Glick says he's making "great strides forward" with his casino empire, which has developed in less than four years.

U.S. shrines opening to handicapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There are 58 steps leading up to the Lincoln Memorial," says Jim Jeffers, "but for handicapped people like me in wheelchairs, it might as well have been 5,800!"

Jeffers recently became the first "wheelchair person" ever to enter the memorial chamber of the nation's most popular historic shrine without being carried bodily up its 80 feet of stairs.

As executive director of the U.S. Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board, he accomplished this feat while inspecting renovations being made by the National Park Service at a cost of nearly $1 million.

The alterations will permit people in wheelchairs, with crutches, braces, or other physical handicaps, to view the statue of Abraham Lincoln close up.

Jeffers says that an estimated 17 million Americans will visit Washington during the bicentennial year, and approximately 3 million of them will be handicapped.

According to Jack Fish, head of National Capital Parks, the local field office of the National Park Service, extensive landscaping and regrading was needed at the front of the Lincoln Memorial to install a concrete ramp with an easy 5 per cent incline for wheelchairs. The new ramp leads from the street to the ground floor of the memorial, where restrooms have been remodeled to accommodate wheelchairs, and an elevator installed to whisk visitors to the statue of Abraham Lincoln close up.

HEW Assistant Secretary Stanley B. Thomas Jr. is chairman of the Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board, composed of the nine major federal agencies that spend over $32 billion a year for construction of buildings and transportation facilities. The board's mission is to monitor compliance with federal law which requires barrier-free access for handicapped people to public housing, office buildings and transportation systems.

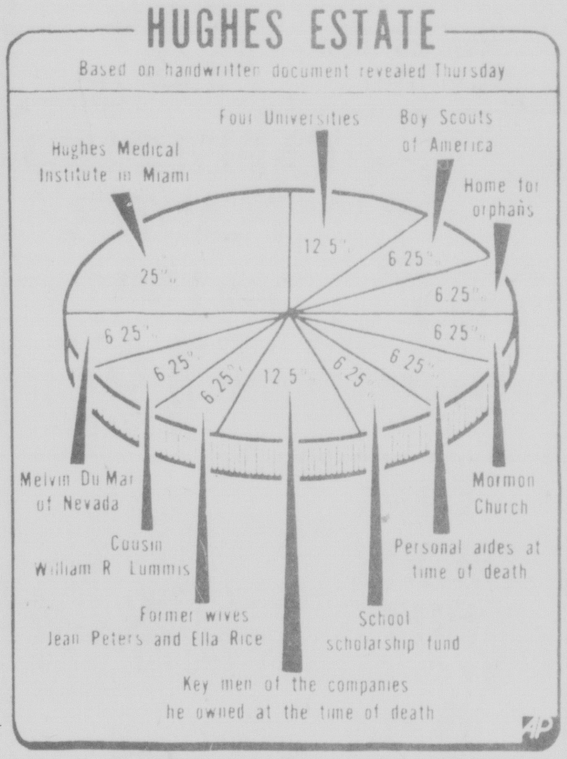
During the bicentennial year, according to Thomas, the Lincoln Memorial will be a national symbol of an "Accessible America."

"The nation's capital belongs to all Americans," Thomas said. "We are making sure that in our bicentennial year, America's handicapped citizens are given equal rights of access, as an example of what can be accomplished all over the country. We hope that our 17 million visitors will return to their communities to take a new look at the many barriers which keep handicapped people from full participation in cultural and business activities."

He noted that these might range from sidewalk curbs to lack of elevators and restrooms in public buildings and places of employment.

Jim Jeffers, a native of West Virginia, has lived and worked in Washington for three years, but until his recent inspection visit had never been able to enter the capital's most popular tourist attraction.

As he looked out from the Lincoln Memorial toward the Reflecting Pool and the Washington Monument in the distance, he said, "It's truly inspiring. From here, it seems that nothing is impossible!"



Fortune breakdown

The chart shows how the estate of late billionaire Howard Hughes would be divided according to a handwritten document turned over to a Nevada court in Las Vegas and described as the will of Hughes. The three-page document, signed by Hughes, leaves the bulk of the estate, estimated at up to $2.5 billion, to medical research and charitable organizations. Hughes' two former wives, his aides and other individuals would receive the rest. (AP Wirephoto)

Czech foundry works to replace bells

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Business booms at the only bell foundry in Communist Czechoslovakia, even though hardly any churches are built here nowadays.

Rudolf and Kveta Manousek, assisted by their 19-year-old son, Petr, work all day to replace some of the 12,000 Czech bells melted down for the Nazi arms industry by the Germans occupying the country in World War II.

The family studio-workshop, situated in a charming Baroque house opposite historic Zbraslav castle, has enough orders to keep them busy until mid-1978.

Because the Manouseks painstakingly handcraft their products on traditional lines, they turn out only 25 to 30 bells a year.

Their biggest restoration job to date was cleaning up Zikmund, an ornate 17-ton monster cast by Czech master Tomas Jaros in 1540 for St. Vitus Cathedral in Prague.

Zikmund is too big to be handled in the workshop, so the three Manouseks had to climb the 400 steps of the cathedral tower every day and work under constant pressure from the wind that gusts through the open belfry even on calm days.

Rudolf Manousek, 67, learned his craft from his father, the first Czech bell founder to break into a domain monopolized for 300 years by German firms.

The elder Manousek's workshop, established in 1908 near Brno in Moravia, at one time employed more than 50 workers.

His son moved to Prague when the family business was nationalized in 1948. He established his present workshop with the help of his 49-year-old wife, a sculptor.

The time-consuming process of making a bell starts when designer Manousek chooses the "profile" or shape, which determines the future tone.

There are ten different bell tune categories and endless combinations to choose from. A bell must be designed so that its tone does not clash with the sound of bells from neighboring churches. If a set of four or five bells is to be cast, they must be designed to harmonize with each other.

Once the basic design is selected, a male mold is built over a cross-shaped iron base by shaping layers of rough and then finer lay over a core of piled bricks. It is then left to dry slowly for three weeks to two months, depending on the size and weather conditions.

Relief work and ornaments are added, dried again and then covered with a mixture of fine clay, matted cow hair, graphite and beer known here as "cirlem."

This female mold must dry for several weeks before the bell can be cast from a molten alloy of 78 per cent pure copper and 22 per cent pure tin, heated to 1,200 degrees centigrade.

The crucial cooling process lasts up to 50 hours.

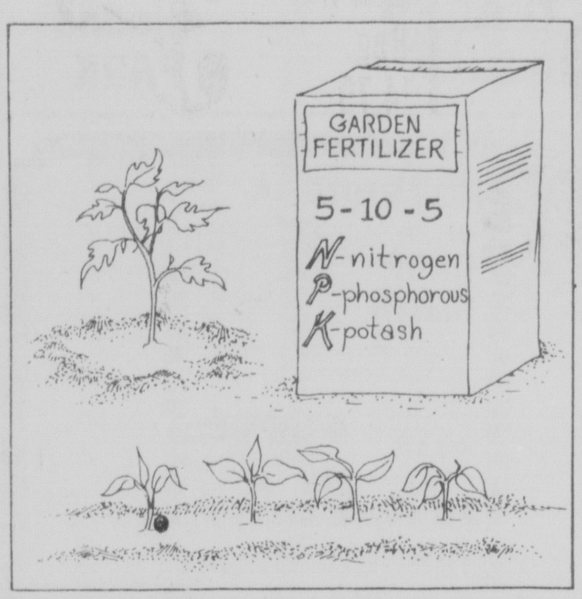
Restoring old bells requires expertise, too. Corrosive deposits must be removed mechanically and chemically before the surface can be conserved with silicone wax, a modern repiacement for the beeswax used in earlier times.

Another job that defies the amateur is welding a cracked bell. It must be preheated to 450 degrees centigrade, the welding material must be identical to the bell alloy and the technique used is old-style flame welding, as electric arc welding is unsuitable.

Bells are usually melted down for recasting if they are beyond repair.

Hints for the home garden

Feed the soil to bank on crops



By Allan and Sheila Swenson
NEA Garden Columnists

To garden abundantly for those big yields you want from your vegetables, you must invest in your soil bank. In reality you must feed the soil before the soil can feed your plants.

Every crop you grow eats up some of the plant food in the soil. Unless you replace it, future crops just won't thrive. Fortunately, feeding the soil to feed plants is easier than ever. New fertilizers have been developed to provide balanced plant food to get plants started well. Then, like those tiny time capsules for headaches, the new timed-release fertilizers become available gradually during the growing season. That way, your plants get a nourishing diet all season long, just when they need a boost most.

When you shop for fertilizer, remember the A B C's of gardening. In this case they are the N P and K of plant food. When you read those numbers on a fertilizer bag — 5-10-5 or 18-12-6 — remember that the major nutrients for plants are Nitrogen (N), Phosphorous (P) and Potash or Potassium (K). They are always listed in the same order. The numbers refer to the number of parts of that nutrient in the total contents of the bag, box or package. The remaining amount is filler or carrier to provide proper distribution of the nutrients around the plants.

Other minor elements may be needed in some areas. Local garden centers can guide you about this. But, knowing what the basic elements do is usually sufficient.

N, or Nitrogen is the key element for vegetable growth. It promotes strong and healthy leaves, stalks and stems. It is vital for all green-leaf tissue. Excess nitrogen may cause excessive foliage growth at the expense of fruiting and vegetable production.

P is Phosphorous. It is needed for strong flower formation, good fruit set and seed production. It also promotes development of plant sugars. If you want sweet-tasting crops, make sure enough phosphorous is in your fertilizer mixture.

K, the potash or potassium, build strong, healthy roots in proper amounts and hastens maturity of crops. It is vital for root crops like carrots and beets.

Leading fertilizer producers like Scotts, have developed special formulas for vegetables, different ones for flowers, trees and shrubs. By providing the key plant food elements in the most effective balance from these new fertilizers, you can be assured of getting the best results from everything you plant. Just as important, timed-release provides adequate feeding all season long. That saves time and assures plants of a balanced diet so they'll grow better to reward you abundantly.

Study says birth control contributed to decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birth control programs have spread across the globe and have contributed to a significant decline in birth rates in the past decade, a new government-financed study says.

It said the years of 1965-75 will go down in history "as the period of world awakening to the problems of rapid population increase and their effects for individuals and societies."

The study said more than two-thirds of the world's population lived last year in countries with birth control programs of some kind. It added that birth rates now are falling faster than death rates for the first time in many years.

The study was prepared by the Population Reference Bureau, Inc., a non-profit educational organization, under contract with the U.S Agency for International Development.

It said the world birth rate declined from 34 per 1,000 people in 1965 to 30 in 1974 and could drop as low as 20 per 1,000 within another 10 years.

The U.S. birth rate was 15 per 1,000 in 1974, down from 19 in 1965.

"The declines in birth rates and natural increase levels taking place between 1965 and 1974 indicate that the world is at least headed toward, rather than away from, a more slowly increasing population," the study said.

The overall annual growth rate of the world population was still high at 1.8 per cent in 1974, and the world's population hit the four billion mark this year, the study noted.

But it also said population programs have had "a marked effect" on population growth in three of the world's most populous nations, Mainland China, India and Indonesia.

Also recording significant results have been South Korea, Nationalist China, Hong Kong, Cuba, Costa Rica, Jamaica and most of the world's industrialized nations, it said.

The rate of natural increase in population was stationary in Latin America and the Near East and rose slightly in Africa, it said.

"Rapid improvement in contraceptives and fertility control technology has played a key role in the widespread adoption of family planning," the study said. A contraceptive substance that needs to be taken just once a month may be near, it added.

Another factor has been the improvement in distribution of birth control programs within individual countries. In Pakistan, for example, it said contraceptives are sold at a subsidized price in 40,000 villages both in stores and by door-to-door distributors.

The program in Mailand China includes official encouragement of late marriage and small families, plus a broad spectrum of readily available contraceptive services.

A major reason for the success and spread of planning programs in underdeveloped nations, the study said, has been financial support from industrialized nations. Such support totaled nearly $1.1 billion in 1965-74, including $732 million from the United States.

Ten per cent raise sought in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Representatives of city workers have called for a 10 per cent hike for city employes next year, down from a previous proposal of a 13 per cent raise.

Negotiators for the city said they would respond Tuesday to the proposal by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Local No. 500.

The city had said previously the 13 per cent proposal was totally unacceptable.

A union spokesman said the employes would not consider a three-year plan and would consider a two-year pact only if it was attractive.

Opening lead — K ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Take a quick look at the North-South cards. You really worry that you have missed a grand slam.

You take your ace of spades at trick one and start to pull trumps. East shows out on the second lead and at this point in time it behooves you to stop and count sure winners. You still can come to 13 if both minor suits break 3-3, but with hearts breaking 4-1 there is a good chance that neither minor suit will break and that you will only score 11 tricks. Can you do anything about this?

Yes, you can. If one player holds the long cards in both minor suits you can develop a squeeze against him provided you give up a trick to rectify the count.

Therefore, you should lead your low spade at trick four. West wins and leads back a trump. You win, cash your last trump and poor East is stone-cold dead. He is down to diamonds and clubs and must unguard one of his jacks.

Ask the Jacobys

An Iowa reader wants to know what she should open with:

♠ A K x ♥ A K x ♦ J x x ♣ J x x

There are only 12 cards shown so we are going to add another small card to any one of the three card suits. This leaves her with a perfect 16 point one-notrump opening.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Ann Landers

Marriage no dream world

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this for all the teens who are planning on getting married this year.

At 16, I married my "dream man." At 18, when my high school friends were receiving their diplomas, I was at home, folding diapers for two. Some of my girl friends said they envied me, but little did they know how much I envied THEM. I was too ashamed to admit that my dream man was spending more evenings away from home than with me.

A year later we were fed up with each other. I couldn't take his running around and he couldn't take my nagging.

All you teenagers who think marriage means "romance forever" are kidding yourselves. First, there's the money problem. When we were dating there was always enough for pizza, movies, picnics, whatever we wanted to do. After we married, the bills began to pile up. We didn't know where they came from.

You think a baby will help keep him home. Well, it keeps YOU home, but it pushes HIM out. He'd rather be drinking beer with his buddies. Crying babies make him "nervous."

I wish I had finished high school. I could express my feelings better. I feel half-educated and — Messed Up At 19.

Dear 19: You expressed your feelings quite eloquently, and I thank you. Any high school dropout who wishes to get a diploma can do it if he (or she) is willing to work at it. Call your high school principal and ask about the alternatives — there are several. And good luck to you, dear.

Dear Ann: My husband and I owned a small farm and worked together to make it go. We made the old equipment do and lived a conservative, quiet life so we could give our children the best of everything.

Six years ago, my husband passed away suddenly. I was 45. Somehow I managed to pull myself together and carry on alone. Two years later I met a wonderful man who made me want to live again. Ralph and I were married.

My 16-year-old son was happy for me. He liked Ralph very much, but the 23-year-old son is another story. He is a college graduate, lives away from home, has a fine job and is debt-free. He has nice friends and a pleasant life, but he can't stand the sight of his stepfather. He did everything under the sun to keep me from marrying.

Now he says I must choose between Ralph and him. He refuses to come to see me unless I assure him that Ralph is out of the house. If there is a family party he will not attend unless I agree in advance to come without Ralph. Sometimes I think I'll go crazy trying to decide what to do. Ralph has been very patient, but how long can he put up with this insolence? I love my son and don't want to lose him. Will you please tell me what to do? — Torn.

Dear Torn: Your son is already lost. Moreover, he is a selfish, punitive young man who could use some professional help.

Tell him you're sorry he feels so strongly about Ralph, but you will not ask your husband to leave the house, nor will you exclude him from family affairs. Let your son know the door will always be open, but since he insists that you make a choice, you must choose your husband.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Hawaii searching for biological controls to combat insects

By CILE SINNEX
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Scientists fighting a critical battle against pests here are creating an unusual example of replacing pesticides with biological controls.

"Hawaii is probably the most vulnerable spot on earth," says Dr. John Beardsley, a University of Hawaii entomologist. "But we probably have the best opportunity of achieving biological control."

In the face of environmental concern about pesticides, scientists everywhere are increasingly interested in biological control — using natural predators to fight crop pests. Entomologists have worked on such natural controls here for nearly 60 years.

"We have spent more per capita in Hawii looking for insects' natural enemies than any other state I know of," says Dr. Asher Ota, an entomologist for the Hawaii Sugar Planters Association. "We are very afraid."

Afraid with good reason. Agriculture is Hawii's third-ranking source of income, and sugar cane and pineapple represent more than 90 per cent of the half-billion-dollar-a-year agriculture industry.

Hawaii's semitropical climate and the constant stream of planes and ships from thousands of miles away allow as many as 20 new species of foreign insects to establish themselves here every year. Such species can flourish because they have left their natural enemies behind them. And if an insect stowing away on an incoming plane happens to have a taste for sugar or pineapple, Hawaii's economy is threatened.

Hawaii has more entomologists "per square mile than any other place in the world" fighting immigrant pests, Beardsley says. Among them are exploratory entomologists who roam warmer parts of the world looking for insects that will kill pests in Hawaii. One entomologist returned from four months in Asia recently with 750 different insects to test.

The hottest import at the moment is the statphylinid beetle, which is being groomed to take on the souring beetle, a pest that breeds in rotting pineapple stumps and has been linked to a fungus disease in sugar cane.

If entomologists are satisfied that the statphylinid will attack the souring beetle without harming beneficial insects or otherwise upsetting the natural balance, it will be turned loose in the fields in large numbers. Hundreds of other insects from seven species have failed in previous laboratory tests.

One of the entomologists' biggest recent victories was the downfall of the banana skipper, a caterpillar that eats leaves from banaa trees. Pesticides that would have killed the beast were banned by federal regulations. But scientists quickly discovered an insect in Thailand that would devour the caterpillar, and within a year the banana industry was safe.

The state and private industry spend about $300,000 a year in the search for insect predators and consider it a bargain. In the long run, Ota says, the constant use of insecticides would cost more than natural control.

The prime example is the sugar industry — nearly 250,000 acres completely free of pesticides.

As the tourist industry grows, bringing more and more jetliners, so grows the chance for unwanted insect stowaways. But U.S. Department of Agriculture inspectors routinely check all arriving planes.

The department also disposes of garbage arriving in Hawaii aboard planes and ships to prevent still more insects from getting a foothold.

A final part of the biological attack is breeding varieties of crops that resist pests that might arrive in Hawaii.

"We're one of the few institutions in the world doing preventive entomology," says Ota. "We've been worried for years about the so-called Fijo disease of sugar cane."

The fungus disease, which is transmitted by an insect called the leaf hopper, exists in Fiji and Australia. Because leaf hoppers also exist in Hawaii, the disease could spread through cane fields here like wildfire, says Oa.

Before one infected leaf hopper arrives in Honolulu International Airport and starts looking for a mate, scientists hope to find varieties of cane that are less susceptible to the fungus.

There is one bright spot in the scramble to stay ahead of the insects. Almost none of Hawaii's native insects has become a pest. Most of the state's crops are of foreign origin, and only foreign pests have developed a liking for them.

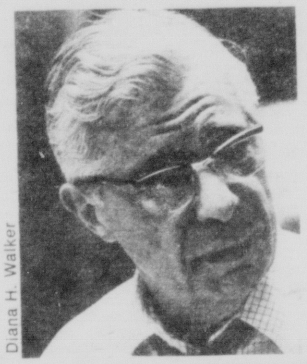
FOR DANIEL SCHORR

I'm sure you didn't leak the House Intelligence Committee report on the C.I.A. to "The Village Voice" just for the publicity—but how does it feel to be at the center of a controversy in which some are calling you a martyr?—J. B. Held, Washington, D.C.



Diana H. Walker

● The joys of martyrdom are vastly overrated. The publicity has turned my world upside down. I'm working harder than ever and enjoying it less. I feel tired all the time from the strain of being a cause célèbre, and I'm lonely for my family even though they are right in the house—I haven't time for them. Worst of all, I guess, is that I have lost my free speech and can't even say anything without checking it out with my lawyer.

FOR JOHN WAYNE

Is it fair to show films with deceased stars? Isn't it painful for their relatives and friends?—M. E. Wallace, Los Angeles, Calif.

● No. I see no reason why it should be a "painful" experience. It might even recall pleasant experiences in their lives, and it enables all of us who survive to remember them as they were.

FOR NATALIE COLE, singer

Have you ever encountered any racial prejudice?--R.G., Tupelo, Miss.

● Once. My girlfriend invited me to spend the day at her uncle's Florida home. When I arrived, he whispered to my friend that blacks weren't allowed in his house and that I had to go. I went—keeping my cool outside but boiling inside. Do you know what annoyed me? Not the prejudice bit but the fact that he didn't have enough nerve to tell me what he thought to my face. What a coward!

FOR JIMMIE WALKER, star of "Good Times"

Did your parents' divorce upset you?—R.T., Hutchinson, Kans.

● Not one bit. It was nothing to get excited about. Divorce has very little effect on children, as long as they can still eat, play and have somewhere to sleep. I was either in the street playing or else in my room sleeping. People always expect something outrageous when they hear of a childhood shadowed by divorce. The only change in my home life was that my father wasn't there. Also, my mother remarried, and I had a stepfather.

FOR POLLY BERGEN

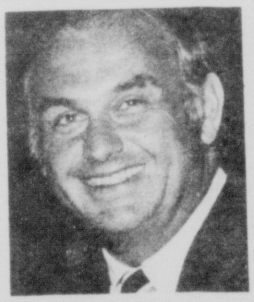
How have men changed since you first started going out with them?—B.S., Anderson, Ind.

● Not very much. Guys still take me to dimly lit restaurants, where they play smoochy dance music, and send me flowers. I think the biggest difference between then and now is that the waiting time has shortened. Years ago, a gal met a guy and two weeks later he worked up courage for that first kiss. Now that (and perhaps more) happens in one evening.

FOR SEN. LOWELL P. WEICKER (R.-Conn.)

Your performance during the Watergate investigations won you many admirers. Would you ever consider running for President?—Lynn Picune, Mahwah, N.J.

● No, for four reasons: 1) As I stated three years ago, no one should benefit from Watergate. People must believe we acted out of conviction, not ambition. 2) Representing a small state like Connecticut personalizes what is a difficult job and makes it fun. 3) I'm a bad partisan. 4) Having 90 percent of my life belonging to the public is enough.



FOR ARTHUR HERZOG, author of "Earthsound"

Is it really possible that a serious earthquake could strike the U.S.?—Barbara House, Framingham, Mass.

● Definitely—and not just in the West. Early in the 19th century an enormous earthquake struck the whole Midwest. Eyewitness accounts actually claim that the Mississippi River ran backwards for a short time during and after the convulsion.

FOR HILDEGARDE

I'm your age and would like to know how you always manage to look so well-dressed.—D.R., Sacramento, Calif.

● The first thing to remember is that you're not 20 years old any more. When miniskirts came out, I avoided them (knees are like a birth certificate). I always make sure my upper arms are covered (this hides anything that's sagging, and softens the face). I stay away from narrow pants and feel best in something with long, flowing lines.

FOR MEAN JOE GREENE, pro football player

I can't understand why you won't give autographs to fans. Don't you think you have an obligation to do so?—Bill Connolly, Bridgeport, Conn.

● No, I don't. If I don't want to be left in as a tackle when we play a game, then somebody else will play my position. And it's the same way with those people who don't want to take their $7.15 and buy a seat. Somebody else will be there. Just as it's their prerogative to ask for an autograph, it's my prerogative to refuse.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Was drinking responsible for Richard Burton's latest break-up with Liz?—S.J., Scottsbluff, Neb.

● No. Burton, who admits to leaning heavily on the bottle for five years, claims he now has only a glass of rare Burgundy wine now and again. He looks back on those five years as a horrible experience, one he never wants to repeat. Dick blames a personality clash for the split: "She's loving and lovable. Gives back exactly what she receives. The truth of the matter is that we find it impossible to live together—and can't live apart, either." The separation came just before Burton's Broadway opening in "Equus." He gave a flawless performance in spite of his marital problems. Said his friend, Producer Alex Cohen: "Liz and Dick are such pros that nothing in their private lives has any effect whatever on their work."

Clues, in Her Writing, To the Real "Squeaky" Fromme

Huntington Hartford Analyzes the Handwriting Of the Girl Who Wrote Us From Prison

FAMILY WEEKLY Editors showed Lynette Fromme's letter to the famous financier and art patron Huntington Hartford, who also happens to be a handwriting expert and the author of "You Are What You Write," (Macmillan, $4.95). Here is Mr. Hartford's analysis:

By Huntington Hartford
Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

In analyzing "Squeaky" Fromme's handwriting, my attention was immediately directed to the fact that I was dealing with a most unusual script—and personality. I thought of that cliché about genius and madness being closely allied. The madness here is clear—for what sane person would attempt to assassinate a President with the horrendous and certain prospect of a lifetime in prison? But, to a graphologist, the intelligence and creativity of this script are also apparent. Squeaky Fromme must indeed possess some kind of evil genius to have been able to assume (as I heard she did) the mantle of her lover Charlie Manson on behalf of his gang; and, indeed, the attempt itself on the President's life was hardly the work of a petty crook.

Yes, we see intelligence here in the indentation of paragraphs and margins. We see a sort of alertness and character in the ebb and flow of the writing's rhythm, giving a beauty to the page, reminiscent of the controlled flourishes of some ancient manuscript. Though not abundant, we do see occasional "figure-8 g's" —where the small "g" is made like a figure 8 or some portion of it. This is often a sign of intellectual depth.

We see an even, forward-leaning slant, very common among outstanding people. We see many long T-bars (though almost all with a certain flourish of questionable meaning), a sign of strength rarely ignored by the graphologist.

Where, then, is the madness in Squeaky Fromme's writing?

Before I answer this question, let me point out that graphologists have done little work on the relationship of handwriting and mental disease, and there is extremely little literature on the subject to draw from. But the madness in Miss Fromme's writing is fully as apparent as the sanity. For example, the script is abounding not only in unnecessary beginning strokes (or marks of immaturity) at the beginning of words, but the beginning strokes themselves are often highly abnormal.

At the beginning of "said" in the first few lines of the letter, for instance, is something which looks like a small "i" without a dot. Again, most of the primary beginning strokes (before the letters "a," "c," "d" and "g") are attached not to the left edge of the word—or the beginning edge—but to the right edge, hanging like a bit of string below the line. And frequently the beginning strokes which do start at the front of words are flying belligerently in the air instead of rising meekly from the basic line, as they usually do.

Next, the rhythm. Rhythm in writing may sometimes tend toward angularity, arcades, arches or garlands, visualized in terms of the small letter "m." An extreme mechanical roundness in the form of arcades is generally looked upon negatively by graphologists. They see the personality of the writer hiding beneath the arch in a manner that suggests hypocrisy. The clockwise nature of the pen in the movement suggests slow, cautious writing which, if accompanied by other factors, is often equated with mental disease or crime.

I also see many signs of violence and stubbornness. I assume from the general nature of the script that Miss Fromme is fairly well-educated. Why, then, the "misplaced" capitals at the beginning of certain words, such as Life and Earth and Everyone and Public Opinion? Graphology has paid little attention to this characteristic, but I made a thorough study of it a number of years ago at Sing Sing prison, and I became convinced that the sudden and impetuous upward strokes of these capitals had an antisocial origin. Admittedly, it is hard to know to what extent illiteracy plays a part, but illiteracy was certainly no excuse for the much capitalized writing of Errol Flynn, whose favorite hobby was stealing the pens of innocent fans!

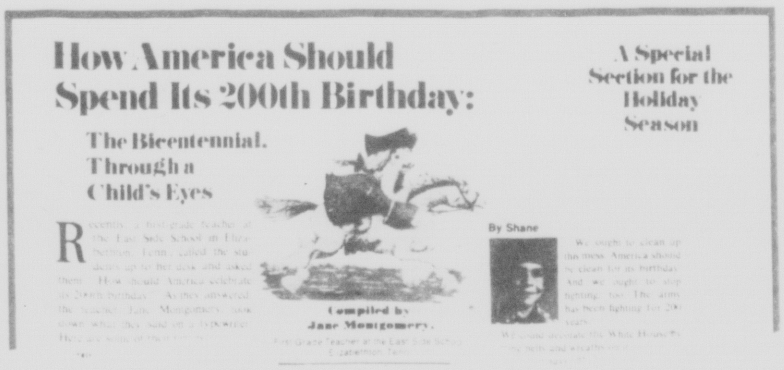
The Article to Which Miss Fromme Responded

Last December 7, FAMILY WEEKLY ran an article titled "How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday: The Bicentennial Through a Child's Eyes." The article consisted of letters from children, compiled by Jane Montgomery, a first-grade teacher in Elizabethton, Tenn.

We received many complimentary letters about the article, but none more laudatory—or more surprising—than a rambling handwritten letter from a woman who signed herself "Lynette Fromme."

Lynette, also known as "Squeaky," is serving a life sentence for the attempted assassination of President Ford. Is it a contradiction in terms that she was "reached" by those innocent, funny letters from children?



How America Should Spend Its 200th Birthday:

The Bicentennial, Through a Child's Eyes

A Special Section for the Holiday Season

By Shane

Compiled by Jane Montgomery,

What Squeaky Wrote . . .

Dear Jane Montgomery—

I read a series of comments by your kids (on the bicentennial) and it was the most meaningful literature I've read in a long while.

That is what is lacking in all the drivel that is printed & said these days—meaning—and it's the lack of it that is killing Life.

A very close friend of mine wrote me once:

"The word 'God' holds all the other words up. Without any real truth, trust, faith, wisdom & love—all the words MEAN NOTHING. Words w/o truth are baby's goo—and even baby's goo goo or a bird's song or a dog's bark are more truth than the Earth's money minds."

I can assume you're a "nice" person who doesn't like to look at the bad side—but I can guarantee you that the condition of the country will get worse because people are refusing to face the bad—as it is shameful what we are pouring into our Earth's vital bloodstreams—the waters. The real horror or sadness or outrage (whichever stage you might be in after apathy) is that Everyone Knows it—the kids most of all and no amount of $ in the world is excuse for depriving them of a clean world. Juvenile crime is up because of it. A self-destructive world forces them to either inflict the problems on themselves—or back on the parents & governments.

Much must be understood. It is not that I come to this country & world with a barrage of the problems everyone knows without solution. I have been yelling solution but am not faced. My solution has been lied of, slandered and sensationalized, sold for money, & murdered w/o understanding because folks don't want to hear of the bad side in order to clean it up. My friend is my solution—that he be heard—as he has deep thought understanding of all of the thoughts that motivate people—yet he sees through the eyes of a child. When he was 9 years old he was put in reform school for having no parents. He has been locked up for 29 years, & he knows the bad. I never called my friend Christ. But I ask this—where did Jesus Christ pass before leaving us last? Barrabas was with Public Opinion in the money.

Lynette Fromme

Finally, I am sure that Squeaky Fromme's writing is one of the most stubborn on record. Many of the words have long downward initial or ending strokes which remind me of stakes driven into the ground: these include: Montgomery, meaningful, read, drivel, printed, said, Life, God, and, will, shameful, all, world, slandered, and, murdered, child, parents, bad. This list, gives dire warning of the bubbling and sultry depths of that very active volcano called Lynette Fromme.

Who can explain the phenomenon of such violence, the complex motives that caused this slender girl, this would-be latter-day Charlotte Corday, to make such an attempt on the life of the mildest and gentlest President who ever flew through the air on skis or bumped his head on an offending doorway?

I can't. Can you?

How to Raise a TV Star

A Chat With TV's Melissa Gilbert and Her Mom

"It's harder for me to make and keep friends because other children get jealous and resent me. A few of my old friends have turned against me."

By Patricia Baum

Before Melissa Gilbert won the part of Laura Ingalls on "Little House on the Prairie," she was a typical little girl. She collected dollhouse furniture, played ball with neighborhood children on her front lawn and enjoyed walks and picnics with her friends and pet beagle. Today, after working on the show for two years, 11-year-old Melissa is the best-known child actress on TV. In fact, she and Tatum O'Neal of the movies are perhaps the only real child "stars" around today.

Yet despite her stature, Melissa is still basically the same, unaffected girl. Really! When I visited her recently, I saw no resemblance to the foot-stomping, tantrum-throwing Child Star. Instead, she seemed surprisingly natural. After rattling off a favorite joke, putting her dog through his repertoire of tricks and showing off her baby sister Sarah, she said, "You see? My life at home is just like everyone else's."

Melissa's life at home includes 8-year-old Jonathan, who appears occasionally on "Little House" as Willie Oleson. "We fight as much as other brothers and sisters do," explains Melissa. "Jonathan knows just what bothers me, and so he does exactly that. At dinner he gobbles his food down in one bite and makes weird noises. He runs into my room and throws a pillow at me. And he sneaks in and takes my things. Once I found my favorite doll in his room with the head pulled off. So I've been paying him back by taking his toys!"

Then she added, "But I think in about four years I'll be old enough to appreciate him more. Once he fell and cut his head open on the coffee table. I was so relieved when I learned he wasn't going to die and only needed three stitches. Then there was the time he got hit in the eye by a swing I was on. I felt so guilty. I went into his room with an ice pack and popsicle for him. But instead of putting the ice on his eye, I accidentally stuck the popsicle in it, and then I felt even worse than before!"

Unlike child stars of the past, Melissa does not live in an adult world. She manages, for the most part, to enjoy an active social life with friends from the neighborhood and from the private school she attends during work-breaks. "But it's harder for me to make and keep friends," she said, "because other children get jealous and resent me. A few of my old friends have turned against me. They go around saying, 'Melissa is a conceited brat and a weirdo.' Or they'll call up and say, 'I think "Little House on the Prairie" is a bunch of baloney!' Then I'll tell them, 'One more call and I'll have your number traced and you'll be eaten by the police!' "

But Melissa feels that losing some friends and some privacy are small prices to pay for her work, which she loves intensely. "I am Laura," she said. "We're both outgoing and somewhat mischievous. We both like the outdoors and all kinds of animals. And I love 'living' in the 1870's, when there was no pollution and everyone rode around on horses and in covered wagons."

She also likes the cast and crew. "Michael Landon is the most wonderful man! I just love him. He's always saying funny things and playing games with us. And when he's directing, he explains very clearly what's happening. Sometimes if it's a sad scene he can make me cry just listening to his description!"

"I only went to one acting class—and I was a total flop."

Melissa's career began at the tender age of 2, when her mother at the urging of a friend, let Melissa appear in a baby-clothing commercial. When she was 7, her mother took her to an agent. She promptly got 10 commercials in a row, then began appearing in dramatic parts on programs such as "Gunsmoke" and "Emergency." "I only went to one acting class," she said, "and I was a total flop. I was asked to pretend I was in my room looking for my pet elephant. I checked the drawers and closets and under the bed. Later I realized what I did was really dumb because a pet elephant would be standing out where I could see it!"

Melissa's great natural talent may be inherited from her comedian father, Paul Gilbert, or from her mother, Barbara Abeles (former actress Barbara Crane). "I first became aware of Melissa's gift for acting," said Barbara, "when she appeared on 'Emergency.' She did a scene in which her father was picked up for being drunk. Her expression was extremely touching."

Despite Melissa's interest and ability, Barbara took a cautious attitude toward her career. "I carefully limited the number of assignments I let her take. I didn't want her schooling to suffer. In fact, I was reluctant to let her work in a series at all! But this one was so special! So far, she has managed to do well both in her lessons on the set—she gets three hours a day by law—and at the school she attends when not working."

Barbara considers it best to remain in the background and not involve herself too closely in Melissa's work. "In the beginning," she says, "I gave her some advice about acting—about how to let go of her emotions and really feel she is Laura instead of just pretending. But I don't make a habit of analyzing and discussing her work. I don't even hang around the set. And when Melissa went on location for three weeks, I stayed for one week and then sent a governess to be with her the other two weeks. I'm not the typical doting stage mother at all because I have the rest of the family to look after and because I don't want to give Melissa the idea that she's the center of everything."

Around home, too, Barbara has treated Melissa in an ordinary way. "Although we have help, Melissa has certain chores she must do, such as clearing the table," she says. "I see that she makes her bed and keeps her room clean. And if she doesn't do what she's supposed to, I'll deny her privileges."

What does she think her daughter is like today? "Melissa has perhaps one little shortcoming," says Barbara. "At times she is somewhat careless with her belongings. She'll break a toy or lose an article of clothing. But I certainly wouldn't consider her spoiled in any way. And she has many good and unusual qualities for a child. She is very responsible—she learns her lines and performs well because so many people depend on her. And she's extremely level-headed. She considers her work a great experience while it lasts and knows she will always have wonderful memories of it. But her happiness doesn't depend on it. So if all this ended tomorrow, Melissa would just get excited about something else."

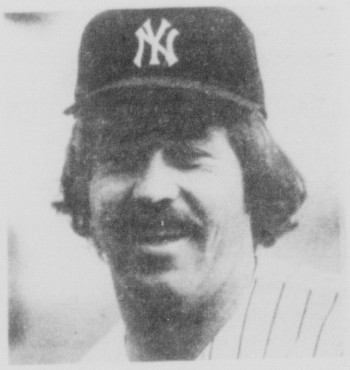
JIM "CATFISH" HUNTER:

How He Learned "Control" On the Farm



Jim "Catfish" Hunter became the highest-paid baseball player in history when he signed with the New York Yankees last year for an estimated $3.75 million, but he continues to live the quiet, homespun life of a North Carolina farmer. In the off-season, he runs his soybean and peanut farm in his home town of Hertford and spends his spare hours hunting and fishing. Even during the baseball season in New York, he skips the expensive night spots and goes right to his home in Norwood, N.J. He followed the same pattern when he was with the Oakland A's. "I only went into the city of San Francisco once in the seven years I was out there," he says. "I just don't like cities." . . . Hunter got off to a slow start last season, but he soon regained his form and wound up with 23 victories and a 2.58 earned-run average. It was the fifth year in a row that he had won 20 or more games. . . . Hunter is not as fast as a lot of other pitchers; the key to his success is his remarkable control. "I learned control around the farm," he recalls. "We had a little hole in the barn door, and we'd all throw at it and see who could hit the hole. I had four brothers, and the one who couldn't hit the hole had to do all the chores, so I really worked hard to develop perfect aim." Hunter also feels that his hunting skill has helped sharpen his mound talent. "When you turn the ball loose, your arm's out in front of you just like a rifle. You have to line up your eye, the ball and the plate the way you line up your eye, the rifle sight and the target." . . . Hunter's career record in post-season play is 7-1, with a perfect 4-0 World Series mark. He has been selected for seven All-Star teams and won the Cy Young award in 1974. . . . He's done little with his new-found wealth. "I'm not a man who's about to change his life style," he says.

Can the "Shell Game" Help You Lose Weight?

If a hostess offered you a dish of unshelled almonds, would you be less inclined to accept a few than if she offered you a dish of shelled ones? In tests made by Dr. Devendra Singh, an associate professor of psychology at the University of Texas in Austin, it appears that obese people are so unwilling to work to get food, that when 19 obese people were offered unshelled nuts, 18 refused them. But when they were offered shelled almonds, virtually all the obese people ate them. Further research by Dr. Singh reveals that when an obese person knows that shelled or unwrapped food can be obtained, his emotional reaction is to spurn the food that's wrapped or still in the shell. "It is rather impressive," comments Dr. Singh, "that merely by wrapping cashews we can induce a dramatic reduction in eating by obese subjects." When giving a party where you generally serve candy and nuts, why not reduce temptation by filling bowls with unshelled nuts? And if you want to wrap cashews in silver foil, you can always tell your guests you've discovered they stay fresher that way.

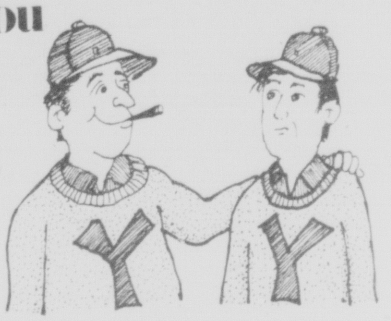
People and You

Can You Really Let the Kids Decide?



You may be confusing your children by acting like one of their pals instead of their parent. Child psychiatrist Milton Engel of Georgetown University says many children are in emotional trouble because their mothers and fathers have been so busy acting like friends, the children have been left without the adult guidance they need. These pal-parents react to controversial topics with, "Oh, we have faith in their ability. We let them decide that for themselves." Under the guise of being the child's friend, the parent escapes the hassle of making decisions and enforcing standards. And the parents mistakenly believe it also gains them the child's love. It doesn't work like that, says Dr. Engel. Instead youngsters who are allowed to "decide for themselves" often develop a variety of problems from being forced to make decisions that are beyond their young ability. Unable to judge the consequences properly, they are then thrown into experiences that they are too immature to cope with. This can lead to "a distorted view of the world and their parents."

Jobmanship

Asking for a Raise: How Men and Women Differ

There's a difference between the way men and women go after the pay they think they deserve. A man may take a while collecting his courage, but eventually he'll ask the boss. Most women, however, use an approach that has been dubbed If-I'm-Efficient-I'll-Be-Noticed-and-Rewarded. Probably because of social conditioning, women fail to ask for pay increases or promotions they sincerely believe they've earned. Instead they toil conscientiously and wait for their supervisor to offer a raise or promotion. If the boss is a man, he's probably totally unaware of the women's viewpoint. There are always exceptions, but the usual boss's outlook is, "If subordinates don't ask for a raise, they must be satisfied." This situation can explode in both the manager's and women's faces. The boss may one day discover a valued woman subordinate is suddenly giving notice and is off to a better job. This comes as a perfidious shock to him. After all, she never intimated she wasn't perfectly content. And of course the woman leaves feeling "unappreciated"—when that may not have been the case at all.

MoneyWise

When "Saving" Wastes Money

Is it ever a mistake to be thrifty? Yes, say financial experts—when you go to extremes to show how careful you can be about spending money. "See how-economical-I-am" is often a trap that turns saving into wasting. For example, when a carpenter estimated it would cost $400 to build bookshelves and storage cabinets across a couple's living-room wall, the couple decided they could do it themselves for half the price. After many weekends of work—plus $220 worth of lumber and hardware—the job was finished. But soon the couple noticed that cabinet doors didn't close right, and the bookshelves were sagging and warping. They had to get the carpenter to fix things. Their total cost was $430—more than the original estimate. Here are some other instances of when over-economizing can be poor judgment: "doing-it-yourself" to save on home repairs when you aren't really handy; buying "bargains" that aren't; compromising on quality when it only means having to replace the item sooner; and pouring money into repairs on old appliances when it would be more sensible financially to buy new ones.

1. Is your cigarette as long and as lean as our cigarette for more pleasure, more style?
2. Does your cigarette draw as easy as our cigarette for more tobacco enjoyment?

4. Does your cigarette come in a burnished brown wrap so it looks as good as it smokes?

Novelist James Farrell

By James T. Farrell:

Finding My Irish Past Along Shannon's Shores

In a recent trip to Ireland, novelist James T. Farrell, best known for his "Studs Lonigan" trilogy, took a boat trip with friends, Sean and Pat, down the Shannon River. It was his third trip to Ireland—but the first in 20 years. Here are some eloquent excerpts from letters he wrote home to his wife.

Dearest,

We drove through the town of Mullingar. My grandmother had spoken often of the Mullingar Fair. Sometimes she would seem sad, at other times excited as she described the wonders of Mullingar.

Mullingar turned out to be a small town, with a steady flow of automobile traffic along its main street. It was part of another, newer world, much different from the Mullingar of my grandmother's girlhood.

Driving through it, my thoughts had been of the change which is measured by time. But once beyond the town, once the greenness and the stillness had reappeared, my thoughts were full of a past unknown to me, a past of the little town of Mullingar, of Westmeath and of the River Shannon more than a hundred years ago. I felt an almost emotional pain for a lost past that I could never know. I was traveling to board the launch, to spend a few days on the River Shannon in the present; but I was also looking for that vanished, all-but-forgotten past. I, like millions of other Americans abroad, prowl the past so that we can understand today. I was hoping to know my own feelings and emotions, and to experience new feelings and emotions and to imagine the feelings of others, now long since dead, who had shadowed my own life . . . and of still others who are yet to be born in my fiction.

It was late afternoon when we picked up our boat in Newton Falls. Soon I was on a launch moving over the dark, wrinkling surface of the River Shannon flowing. As a boy I used to play a record on our Victrola about the River Shannon flowing. It, along with "My Wild Irish Rose" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," was one of my favorite songs.

The River Shannon is one of the most beautiful rivers in the world. It has long been an inspiration for creativity and reflection, for meditation, for sentiment—and for sentimentality. And even though I had been in Ireland twice before, I had only seen the river from the air while landing or taking off from Shannon Airport.

Dearest,

From time to time the sky turns dark and threatening, but we've come to accept the weather as part of the atmosphere and as part of the charm and poetry of Ireland. Pat made the comment that if it weren't for the weather, Ireland would sink into the sea from the weight of the people on it.

Dearest,

I came down with a cold. I had no sooner set foot on the jetty at Carrick-on-Shannon when I met a stranger who happened to be a doctor. I explained my problem. I was just starting on a trip; I wanted to be comfortable; I would not like to burden my friends. Could he recommend something to suppress a developing cold? He led me to where his car was parked and opened the trunk. It was a veritable drugstore. Americans take far too many pills, he said, and he didn't approve of this. But, considering the circumstances, he would give me something.

Reaching for a bottle of pills, he asked me if I could stop after one or two brandies. I said yes.

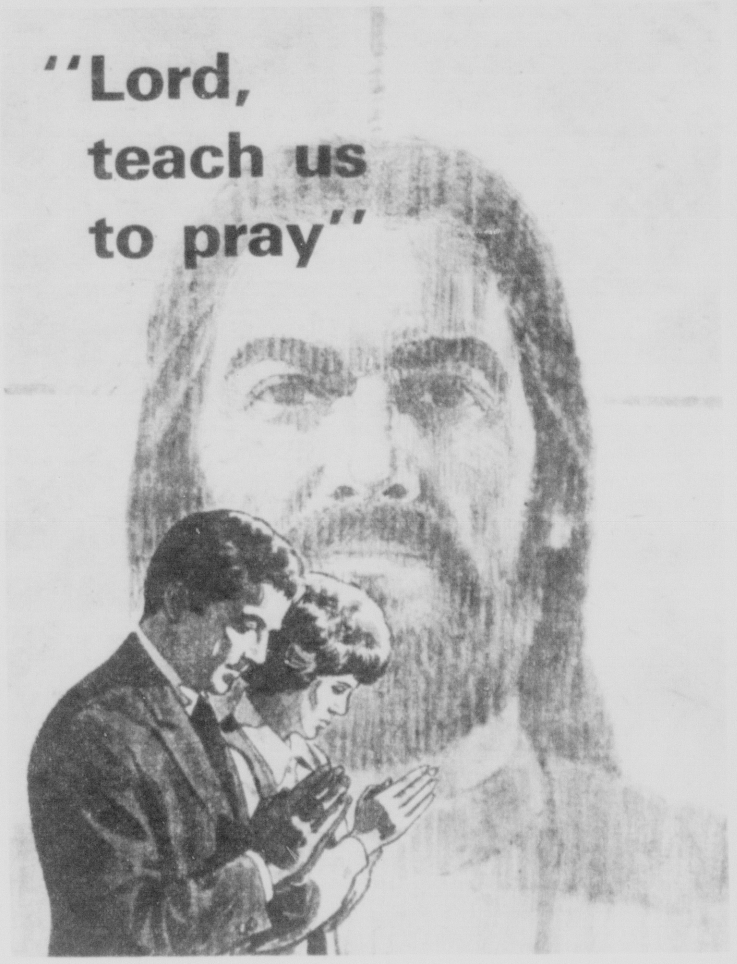
"Good, take a drink or two with these."

The next morning we awoke to a gray day. The sun appeared only fitfully, but it did not rain. We got off in the launch, still going downstream. Along the banks, the fields were green and beautiful. The sheer beauty along the Shannon is continuous. There are few houses to be seen. Fields and woods. Sun and sky and water. Herds of cattle grazed. Many seemed to be carved of stone, except for their flicking tails. From time to time, a gnarled tree with a branch twisted and turned and shaped like a wooden gargoyle would separate itself from other trees lining the banks. The world was infinitely quiet. The world beyond what was immediate and visible seemed to blur away, a blur of dimly remembered frictions and pressures. Other than the sounds of our motor, there were only the noises of nature. The past became now; and now became then. The thousands of days, of yesterdays, that had crowded over and disappeared above these waters were the same as these days. It seemed that there never had been, never could be, anything but quiet on these waters. And yet, the River Shannon has known the violence which marks the whole long history of man. There had been war by the Shannon. The Vikings sailed up the Shannon spreading fire and death. So had the English. And once there had been commercial traffic on the Shannon. Now, save for relatively few barges, there are only pleasure craft.

Clonmacnoise, one of the oldest ruins in Ireland, is on the Shannon beyond the city of Athlone. What interested me most in Athlone was the "Steeple of Athlone" of which my grandmother spoke. This is the Gothic tower of St. Mary's Cathedral, a Roman Catholic Church completed in 1860. I went to see the tower at midnight. It pointed towards a moonlit sky, through which thousands of bright shiny stars had been carelessly flung like jewels tossed upon an enormous rug. The tower seemed to belong to the sky. I looked at it. It had been one of the wonders of my grandmother's girlhood. It was a visible and tangible memorial of that lost past which I had been looking for.

And I had found it.

James Farrell, will have his 50th book, "The Dunne Family," published by Doubleday later this year.



The need for prayer—especially in time of danger or anxiety—is instinctive in almost everyone. Yet many people regard it chiefly as a means of obtaining God's favors. And when everything they pray for is not granted, they often wonder if God is really listening.

Christ's teachings on prayer, however, reveal that God does indeed hear and answer each of our prayers . . . but not necessarily by granting every favor we want or think we need.

To help you understand why this is so, we have prepared a special pamphlet explaining the true meaning and purpose of prayer. You will learn from it how Christ gave us the Lord's Prayer not merely as words to be recited, but as the model for perfect prayer. And you will learn, too, the truth of Our Lord's promise: "Ask, and it shall be given you."

Fitness is my business

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER® BECAUSE IT'S FAST, IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Bob Breton says "I earn my living by keeping top executives in peak physical shape. My clients insist on maximum results with minimum time and effort. I recommend Bullworker because it's fast, it's easy and it really works."

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in shape.

Ten years as a fitness coach has taught me one important fact: most men will not stick with a training program long enough for it to do them any good, unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker gets a top score on all three counts:

—it's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about five minutes

—it's easy: any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can perform the full program without getting tired

—you see your results right from the very first day on the built-in Powermeter gauge. After two to three weeks of regular training, most men can expect to measure an extra inch or two of muscle on their shoulders, chest and biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the middle.

And that's just the start: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming-down any part of your body you want to. What's more since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every workout your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. For my money, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market. I use it and recommend it to any man who wants to get back in top shape fast.

Jackie's Horoscope shows... super fame and fortune were her destiny!

by Barbara Walthers

An astrological research team was recently assembled in Los Angeles to study Jackie's life. They found that at the very minute of her birth, her horoscope predicted, that super-fame and super-fortune were her destiny!

Let's take a look at some of the actual facts revealed by Jackie's horoscope. Jackie's Sun is in Leo, indicating a ruling role in life — and in her adult life she became as close to a queen as an American could get — the First Lady of the land!

In her horoscope, Pluto 18° Cancer, predicts that the men in her life will be connected with the liquid elements. This prediction certainly came true. The late John F. Kennedy was an avid amateur sailor and in the Second World War he first gained national attention for his daring exploits as a P.T. boat captain. And Jackie's second husband, the late and fabulously wealthy Aristotle Onassis, built his legendary fortune by establishing a vast shipping empire.

The planetary aspect Sun Sextile Jupiter in her horoscope shows that public service and publishing are major career interests. She won the Emmy Award for public service and has recently accepted an editorial position with a leading national publishing firm.

Jackie's rising sign is ascendant 28° Scorpio revealing that she loves travel and adventure. And her jet-setting life has been one of the world's most publicized adventures.

Venus 22° Gemini and Jupiter 10° Gemini in her horoscope indicate wealth in the house of partners — and both of Jackie's husbands have been wealthy.

One of the most telling predictions of all was the tragic day of John F. Kennedy's assassination. Transit Mars and Transit Venus were opposite Venus in Jackie's chart indicating grave danger to her husband. Transit Pluto was conjunct to her Mars, a heavy aspect of a dangerous situation in public groups.

HOW ASTROLOGY AFFECTS YOU

Jackie Onassis, of course, is not unique in the uncanny accuracy of her horoscope. Everyone born has a completely personal horoscope that is totally different from that of any other person in the entire world. To illustrate how astrology affects everyone, I'd like to share with you some of the research findings of the Institute for Applied Astrology.

"Hair" the most successful musical of all times had a full time astrologer. He advised them on every single step. He told them when and where to open. He got top credit right along with the writers and the director!

In 1908, an astrologer, John Hazelrig, said that every 20 years, when the Transits of Saturn and Jupiter are conjunct (come together) the President who took office that year would die in office. Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Harding, Franklin Roosevelt and Kennedy did exactly that!

Carol Richter is astrologer to Hollywood. Hundreds of the famous have used his Transit astrology. People like Marlene Dietrich, Gloria Swanson, Ronald Colman, Tyrone Power and Danny Kaye. Carol Richter became as astrologer because Evangeline Adams, who was astrologer to Kings, Queens and financiers, told him astrology was his vocation according to the stars.

Hitler was conquering Europe as long as he followed his Horoscope as prepared by Karl E. Kraft. But when Kraft's charts told Hitler it was not the time to turn East to Russia, Hitler fired him. That was the beginning of the end for Hitler. (See Wm. Shirers "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich".)

JACKIE'S ASTRO-PORTRAIT

Jackie is probably the world's best known woman. But, like the rest of us, she was born into this world at a time and in a place over which she had no control. However, as shown in her horoscope cast by our astrological research group, fate had great plans for her future. To really get to know Jackie and her fabulous life you've got to read about what her horoscope says.

Countless brilliant scientists, writers and geniuses through the ages have believed in Astrology. Great men like St. Thomas Aquinas, Sir Roger Bacon (father of modern science), Shakespeare, Sir Isaac Newton, Carl Jung, Einstein, and J. P. Morgan have all openly agreed that astrology works!

MODERN SCIENCE PROVES ASTROLOGY WORKS

Recently in France a famous scientist named Michel Gauquelin decided to prove that Astrology was a fake. So he attacked it scientifically! In France the time of birth is on every birth certificate, so he was able to hire Astrologers to cast the horoscopes of 576 famous teachers of medicine. He was astonished to discover that most of them had Mars and Saturn heavily influencing their character! These are the signs that show a natural talent for healing. He refused to believe his own evidence, so he checked the horoscopes of famous lawyers, soldiers, politicians and artists. He found that in every single instance the people that were successful, were "doing what comes naturally" as shown on their astrological charts. Unfortunately the opposite also holds true. The people who fail at their work and in their lives are the ones who do the wrong things. They are square pegs in round holes: they are plumbers who should be doctors, mechanics who should be engineers, etc.

HERE'S HOW ASTROLOGY WORKS

Most people have heard about the rich, famous and successful people who use astrology practically full time, but they still think that astrology is the "fortune cookie" horoscope they read in their daily paper, or the Natal horoscope that they can buy for a few dollars. But this is not true, for astrology is an exact and demanding science.

To prepare a true, in-depth, total personal horoscope for you, an astrologer must first make a chart showing the sun, the moon, and all eight planets as they were at the time and place of your birth. This is where all other computer horoscope companies stop. But that is only half the job.

Next, the astrologer must relate "Transits" to your basic chart. Transits are the changes in the positions of the sun, moon, and planets as they move away from the positions they were in at your birth. And only the Institute for Applied Astrology does this!

When this Total chart is finished it is completely personal, completely different, and completely about you! And the written evaluation is what astrologers call your Total Horoscope. Natal astrology alone is like reading a good book about big game hunting and then going to darkest Africa on your own. "Total" astrology is like having a top professional hunter to help guide you through the jungle. The special knowledge contained in this horoscope can change your life in many wonderful ways. We all know, for example, that while none of us are good at everything, each of us are good at something. Your horoscope will tell you what you're good at. And armed with that knowledge you can forge ahead and be at ease and happy while you do it.

Your horoscope delves deeply into your personality, revealing your hidden talents. It will tell you about the areas where you have ability but may have been uncertain and afraid to try — things like writing or acting, art, sex, leadership, public relations, advertising, athletics, etc.

Think of it this way: you only have one life to live, so why not get everything from it that you can! Why waste your time charging down blind alleys that can easily be avoided? You have a real duty to yourself and to your loved ones to make the most of each precious moment. And your Total horoscope can give you the edge you need to see your opportunities and take advantage of them.

For a limited time only, while the internationally known Institute for Applied Astrology is carrying on its extensive research program, you can get your Total Horoscope for only a duplicating cost. The casting and analyzing are done FREE! The article below tells you how to get your Horoscope. For the sake of your own personal happiness — don't pass up this unique opportunity. It's the kind of new chance for success that comes along only once in each person's life.

Limited Research Program Invitation

WHY WE GIVE YOU THE WORLD'S ONLY TOTAL HOROSCOPE FOR JUST OUR COPYING COST

by Lois Rodden, A.F.A.—P.A.I. Chief Astrologer

There are a lot of computer horoscopes on the market — and most of them are okay as far as they go. But that's just it — they really don't go far enough! Only the Institute for Applied Astrology can prepare your TOTAL HOROSCOPE for you because only we have "transits" stored in our giant computer.

Where the sun, moon and planets happen to be at the time of your birth is what makes up your Natal (birthdate) Horoscope. But that's only the beginning of a TOTAL HOROSCOPE, yet that's all you get from other computer horoscope companies. You see, the sun, moon and planets keep right on moving. They are in Transit. And day after day they keep forming new angles with your birth chart. These Transits show every single important period of your life! And no horoscope that does not include these transits is a TOTAL HOROSCOPE.

Now, for a limited time only, if you will help us with our research program, you can get your own personal TOTAL HOROSCOPE for just a duplicating charge. Since your TOTAL HOROSCOPE must be constructed anyway for our research you may have an exact duplicate copy for only $3.00 to cover our printing cost, plus just 55¢ for postage and handling. The preparation, the casting, and the professional analysis are provided without charge! To join our research program and get your TOTAL HOROSCOPE, here's all you do. Write down your time and place of birth, as exact as possible, on a piece of paper and send it to me. I'll cast and analyze your TOTAL HOROSCOPE as part of our current astrological research program.

Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will run from 14 to 18 pages — up to 10,000 words (three to four times larger than ordinary Natal [birthdate] Horoscopes) — and here are just a few of the important things it will do for you:

1 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will make you know yourself. That means you can make use of your strong points and fight off your weak ones.

2 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will analyze your character in depth giving you psychological facts that some people pay analysts a fortune for.

3 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will give you new insights into the talents and abilities you never before gave yourself credit for having.

4 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how and when to use these talents to open up a better life and future.

5 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how to get along with more people . . . thereby enriching your social, business and sexual life.

6 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you the people you are compatible with. It will make you understand how to use those people to get ahead. This covers every aspect of living — family, friends, business associates, partnerships, romances, etc.

7 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will show you how to form meaningful and exciting personal and sexual relations with the right partners — and how to keep these relationships strong and satisfying.

8 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will not only give you practical vocational and career advice but will show you the best times to use that information for maximum effect.

9 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE will be loaded with beneficial advice on money matters. It will tell you when to take chances and when to be careful. This is exceptionally important if you have a tendency to take risks.

10 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE covers all matters relating to your body and your health. It tells you the things to do and the things to avoid in order to enjoy the maximum in good health, normal weight and high energy.

11 Your TOTAL HOROSCOPE gives you positive information. When it tells you of possible bad periods it also tells you how to avoid or overcome them.

The Institute needs your horoscope to help complete our huge research program looking into the practical applications of astrology (Applied Astrology). This research program has been going on for some time and has been presented in COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, FAMILY WEEKLY MAGAZINE, THE LOS ANGELES TIMES HOME MAGAZINE, THE NATIONAL ENQUIRER, and other papers and periodicals. Right now, for a limited time only, if you help us by providing your birth data, you can benefit by becoming eligible to get horoscopes for yourself and even your family and friends.

Here's all you do—IMPORTANT: PRINT ALL OF THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION CAREFULLY ON A PIECE OF PAPER — IN THIS ORDER — (1) Name; (2) Full Mailing Address; (3) Month / Day / Year / Time of Birth; and (4) City, State and Country of Birth. Send it to us with the $3.00 copying charge and 55¢ for postage and handling, for each person's horoscope you want. Note: If you don't know your exact time of birth use 12:00 noon. You may even charge it to your BankAmericard, Master Charge, or American Express by including the following: (1) Name of Card; (2) Card Number; (3) Card expiration date; (4) Cardholder's Signature.

Mail this material to: THE INSTITUTE FOR APPLIED ASTROLOGY; RESEARCH DIVISION; 6331 Hollywood Blvd., Dept.FWC, Hollywood, California 90028.

We will, at no cost to you, feed your birth information into our giant computer. The computer will then calculate your Natal Chart including the sun, moon and planetary aspects. Then it will calculate the transit positions of the heavenly bodies as they move through those positions. Next, it will examine 54 million possibilities in order to create your TOTAL HOROSCOPE! All you pay for your TOTAL HOROSCOPE is the cost of making a copy for you.

Your horoscope is covered by a full one year money back guarantee of complete satisfaction. If you have questions write or call Sanford Richter, (213) 276-2151, Research Director, the Institute for Applied Astrology. Act at once and avoid disappointment. Send for your horoscope before you forget. Thank you.

Anger: How to Spot It. Suppress It or Use It

True or False? A man will stand still for a lot more provocation from a woman than he will from another man. (See number 5.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. The person who goes through life with a chip on his shoulder is actually mad at himself.

2. Anger is as contagious as the common cold.

3. When someone provokes you to the point where you're dangerously near exploding, you should laugh at him instead of "blowing your top."

4. The "assertive personality"—one who is quick to stand up for his rights, who takes the lead in discussions and has no difficulty in saying no to unreasonable requests—is the quickest to show anger.

5. A man will stand still for a lot more provocation from a woman than he will from another man.

6. If a fellow worker is mad at the boss, he's likely to take it out on you—if you look like the boss.

ANSWERS

1. True. Psychological studies show that a person's attitude toward himself tends to be projected to others. As one leading authority aptly observes, the extent to which a person likes or hates the world around him depends on the degree to which he likes or hates himself.

2. True. Studies show that being around angry people for any length of time is likely to make you angry, too. Hostility and aggression are just as contagious as any virus. You'll be much more likely to keep your temper if you stay away from people who are constantly on the verge of losing theirs.

3. True. As sociologist Joyce O. Hertzler notes in "Laughter: A Socio-Scientific Analysis": in such situations "the laughter of the individual, like profanity, at least momentarily relieves him in a serious situation which threatens his well-being. It keeps him from blowing a fuse." It's also pointed out that aggressive laughter serves to get the resentments and antipathies, which the other person has generated, out of one's system.

4. True—for women, but not for men, according to studies, conducted by investigators from two universities, on the relationship between assertiveness and aggression. It was found that assertiveness tended to go hand in hand with aggressiveness only for the females in the study.

5. True—as shown by a Kent State University study, which showed that "male subjects responded aggressively to provocation by male opponents and unaggressively to female opponents." Subjects were selected from a pool of 500 students and were divided into two groups: those who subscribed to the "male chauvinistic" view concerning women and those who embraced more liberal attitudes. Though tests showed the former to be generally more aggressive, both groups deferred to the ladies. One explanation offered for the male subjects' deferential treatment of female antagonists is "that males have been trained very early in their socialization to inhibit specifically their aggressiveness when provoked by a female."

6. True. A clinical study of the motives underlying human behavior has shown that anger transference is not uncommon. It's noted, for example, that "if the boss is the cause of anger, an employee may become aggressive toward certain of his fellow workers, particularly those who look like the boss." Or he may transfer his anger to someone outside the organization who is far removed from the source of his hostility.

Each set of spoons comes to you in this luxurious Presentation Case

Here is an amazing offer! Fill in and mail the Certificate above together with $1.00 to cover mailing costs and we will send you three spoons honoring our first three Presidents— George Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson! They are part of the magnificent American Bicentennial Collection of Presidential Spoons by International Silver — commemorating every American President from Washington to Nixon!

The Collection is a masterpiece of the silversmith art. There are 36 different Presidential spoons — each honoring an American President and the American way of life! Each spoon, six inches long, is painstakingly cast in durable base metal, then richly plated with pure .999 fine silver. Portrayed in deep, sculptured relief at the top of the handle is a vivid likeness of an American President. The years that he held office are carved beneath each Presidential portrait with his name directly below.

WHY WE MAKE THIS GENEROUS OFFER!

We want to acquaint you with the Collection. What better way is there than to send you a few of the spoons to look over in your own home — to examine carefully. We hope that you will be delighted with them, that you will want to collect the others. If that is your decision, you can do so in sets of three spoons at a time for only $3.50 per spoon plus mailing cost. Details will be sent with your first set of three spoons.

To redeem your Certificate, fill in and mail it with $1.00 to: American Collectors Guild, Dept. FW-4, 1013 E. 26th St., Hialeah, Fla. 33013. Do it today before you forget! Allow 4 weeks for delivery.

A UNIQUE AND EXCLUSIVE FEATURE!

In the bowl, a notable achievement of a great historical event in the life of the President is presented in graphic detail. The John F. Kennedy spoon, for example, recaptures the historic flight of Col. John Glenn's "Friendship 7", America's first orbit of the earth; on the Lincoln spoon, the stirring words of his immortal Gettysburg Address. Indeed, just to view these striking tributes is to refresh one's faith in the true meaning of America.

Clothes That Convert – For Travel, Sleep, Play

Pieces to Mix and Match

A sarong swimsuit, screen-printed with a Gauguin-like flourish, can easily lend its halter top or matching cover-up to double over pants or shorts. From Rose Marie Reid.

American ingenuity in fashion designing is at its height. How else to describe clothes that are destined to make vacations at home or away truly carefree? We shopped the intimate and swimwear market to present you with two imaginative ways to build a dawn-to-dusk travel wardrobe. How? By taking stay-at-home clothes and adapting them for outerwear (you simply add your favorite accessories), and by including quick-change top or bottom coordinates to multiply your outfits. Then you can stop worrying about what to wear on vacation.

From Tennis Court to Pool

After a fast game on the court, wear this softly sueded "tennis" dress from Gabar right into the pool. The ensemble, of Caprolan nylon simplex, actually is a swimsuit and cover-up.

Step Out in Sleepwear

Ralph Montenero adds a flair for Blanche with a light, airy poncho top (which comes with a bikini bottom) over a cool "dress." Designed separately to sleep in, they team up perfectly for dining out.

Nightgown into Evening Dress

John Kloss interprets this soft, flowing gown for Cira in Caprolan nylon. It's luxurious for a tropical night, and you can convert the matching robe into an evening coat to ward off ocean breezes.

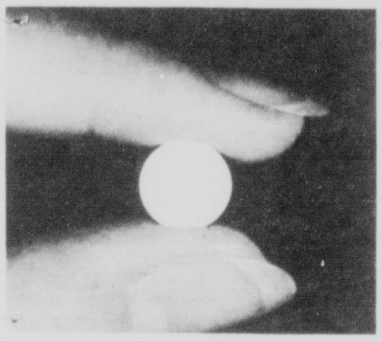
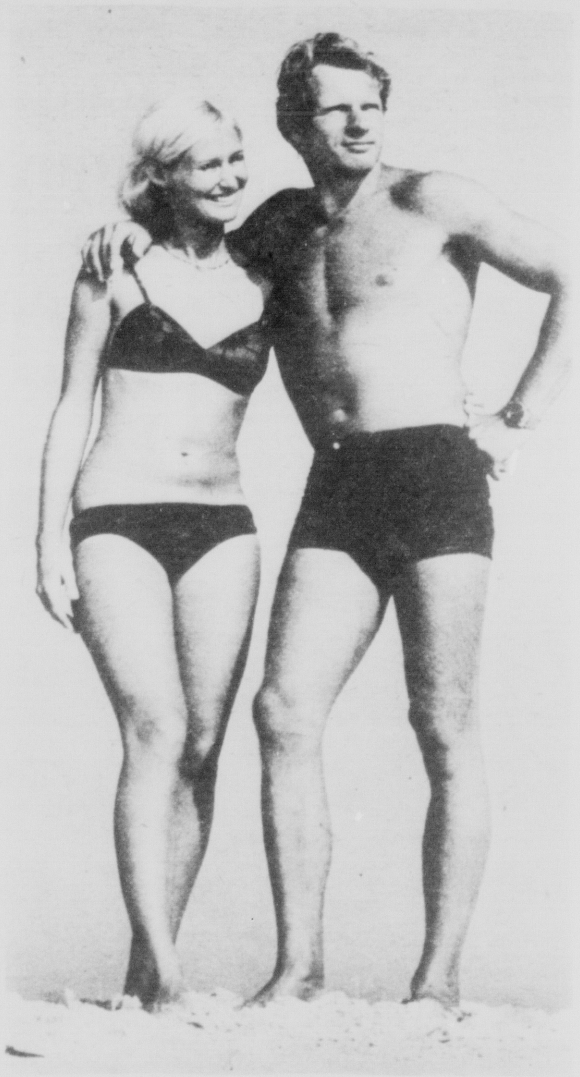
Doctor's Amazing Reducing Plan Helps

DISSOLVE THE FAT RIGHT OUT OF YOUR BODY!



Yes, here it is—a Doctor's safe, effective substitute for high-powered Reducing Drugs!



Yes, lose as much as 10, 20, 30 even 50 pounds or more
■ without gruelling exercise ■ without starvation diets
■ without a single moment of ravenous hunger

thanks to the most powerful reducing aid ever released for public use without a prescription!

How? By attacking the basic cause of overweight — overeating — and actually helping your body convert the food you eat into ENERGY instead of into fat!

From the office of the doctor who has taken even the most stubborn overweight cases and shown them a thrilling way to slash away pounds and inches in what seems like NO TIME AT ALL . . . comes proof of a medically proven approach that gives you the great ecstasy of slimness without the agony of gnawing hunger — yes, spectacular weight-loss results even if at this very moment you are 10 . . . 20 . . . 30 . . . 50 pounds overweight . . . or more!

NOW! TURN FOOD INTO ENERGY INSTEAD OF INTO FAT!

The secret behind this doctor's "no-hunger" eating program to a slimmer, trimmer figure . . . is a wondrous way to convert all the food you eat into ENERGY instead of into FAT! Yes, step up your body's rate of fat burn-off just like you'd step up a furnace. Actually help eliminate unsightly FLAB all over your body — by using it as a source of energy that your body burns up and flushes away. That's right . . . excess pounds and inches literally consumed by your own body chemistry . . . once you trigger the FAT REDUCING PROCESS with this proven formula for success. So effective is this doctor's medically proven program, that during the very first 3 days alone you'll see weight disappear from sight at the incredible rate of up to SIX POUNDS OF FAT AND FLUID GONE BY THE VERY FIRST 72 HOURS! In fact — and the doctor says note this carefully — depending upon how overweight you are, the more you weigh, the more you should initially lose.

Before starting this program, consult with your physician to be sure you are in normal health and your only problem is obesity. Individuals with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes, or thyroid disease should use only as directed by a physician. As a matter of fact, we urge you to show this entire program to your own family physician and see if he doesn't agree that this is a medically sound approach to the problem of obesity.

PROVEN ON SCORES OF PATIENTS — STARTLING WEIGHT LOSSES EVEN ON PEOPLE WHO HAD RUNAWAY APPETITES!

For years one of the most effective aids doctors used to attack the basic cause of fat build-up, overeating, was amphetamines. Only trouble: the side effects from amphetamines were so shattering it was often easier to live with the fat than to be plagued with insomnia, nervous jitters and worst of all, in some cases, even addiction. But now, suppose a doctor who has successfully treated obese patients for years told you that there now exists an EFFECTIVE SUBSTITUTE FOR HIGH-POWERED DRUGS. A fantastic program that includes THE MOST POWERFUL REDUCING AID EVER APPROVED BY THE GOV'T. FOR SALE TO THE PUBLIC WITHOUT A PRESCRIPTION. Yet so effective, that when you launch yourself on this doctor's proven capsule-program 4 things happen in your body:

- Those gnawing hunger pangs disappear, it takes less food to satisfy you therefore you have less caloric intake.
- The foods you do eat, instead of being stored up as fat are now converted into a source of energy that your body burns away.
- The layers of fat that up to now seemed impossible to budge, are suddenly consumed, broken down and used by your own body chemistry . . . to provide the energy needs of your body.
- And even though you may carve away as much as a staggering 20, 30, 50 pounds OR MORE . . . you do it without the risk of speed drugs like amphetamines, dexedrine, benzedrine. Why, do you realize what this means to you?

NOW SHRINK THE FAT CELLS IN YOUR BODY THIS DOCTOR'S PROVEN WAY

It means that now when you combine this powerful pill with this doctor's sensible, satisfying eating program, you not only lose weight starting right now, but you do not have to ever again suffer those gnawing pangs of hunger . . . ever again saddle yourself with an exhausting rigid system of exercise . . . ever again torture and starve yourself to death on some ridiculous fad diet . . . only to have your willpower snap and the pounds come rebounding back. Matter of fact, and though this may startle you . . . you are ordered by this doctor to eat 3 meals a day with such luscious foods as steak, chops, etc. You are never once asked to pit your hunger against a cast-iron willpower. For, just as he shows his own patients how to eat their way to slimness . . . this doctor lays down his own law to you: "Never starve yourself . . . there's no need to. You can eat mouthwatering steaks, roasts, chops, etc. as I tell you . . . and take one of these tiny golden capsules one to two hours before each meal." It's as simple as that. Naturally, we don't want to kid you. You can't gorge yourself on unlimited quantities of food and still lose weight. Instead, here's the doctor's way to replace all those zany, half-baked fad-diets of the past with a high-powered pill and a doctor's sure, sensible satisfying eating program that SHRINKS AWAY FAT LIKE NEVER BEFORE!

WHO EVER DREAMED OF SUCH A THRILLING WAY TO LOSE WEIGHT?

Picture this thrilling scene: Just 3 days have passed since you have started on this doctor's sensational program and you've taken your first few capsules. You have not missed a single meal . . . not done any torturous exhausting exercise . . . just the doctor's simple nitely tone-up program that's actually pleasant to do! You've just taken your first giant step on your march to slimness. So you step on the scale, and here's what happens.

You can't believe your eyes . . . for the first time in your life SUCCESS! Yes, you've started to win the war against fat. For what could be greater proof than the reading on your scale . . . AS MUCH AS 6 POUNDS OF FLUID AND FAT GONE IN JUST 72 HOURS. That's right! You, without even feeling it . . . without even noticing it . . . have actually discovered how to shed excess pounds and inches, like never before. And in the days and weeks to follow . . . just as gently, your body will continue to LOSE AND DRAIN AWAY, SHRINK AWAY, DISSOLVE AWAY 10 — 20 — 30 even 50 POUNDS of excess fat . . . until at long last you will have achieved your life-long goal . . . a new, slender body, a slim streamlined figure!

ORDER BIO-DRENE TODAY . . . THE ONLY THING YOU HAVE TO LOSE IS WEIGHT!

Yes, IT MUST WORK FOR YOU AS IT HAS FOR SCORES OF PATIENTS. IT MUST PRODUCE FOR YOU THE SAME ELECTRIFYING RESULTS AT IT HAS FOR SO MANY OTHER LIFE-LONG VICTIMS OF OBESITY . . . OR IT COSTS YOU NOTHING!

Once you get past the shock of the photographs you won't be able to put this book down. For those of you who enjoy reading great heart-stirring stories of mind over body, this book is a must—fascinating and unusual.

This is not just a picture book of "freaks". The author treats these people with insight, compassion and the dignity one earns by being born different from everyone else.

VERY SPECIAL PEOPLE will also teach you one of the most important lessons that life has to offer: the incredible ability of man's mind, soul, and spirit to overcome any physical imperfection . . . no matter how hopeless it may appear. Read this book and you'll never indulge in self-pity again.

What in the World!

Dr. James Stallings, whose surgery rescues people from "freakhood," from obesity and from post-mastectomy depression.

Rescuing people from "freakhood": "Living sculpture" is what Dr. James Stallings calls his reconstructive surgical technique; we call it great humanitarianism. At the Institute for Special Surgery in Des Moines, Dr. Stallings and his assistants donate their surgical skills to rebuild and reconstruct patients who might normally be labeled "freaks" or "social misfits." "Not only is corrective surgery vital for the physically deformed so that they can start leading 'normal' lives, but I have found that terribly overweight people have profited from plastic surgery. If we remove a few of their excess bulges, they usually are motivated to lose the extra inches and weight themselves," said Dr. Stallings. Since he performs reconstructive surgery free of charge, does he advocate socialized medicine in this country? "I've spent a great deal of time in Britain, and as far as my kind of surgery is concerned, socialized medicine would be an unwelcome change. The British have to wait an average of nine years for cosmetic surgery. Americans, who aren't used to waiting for anything, would give up. It also stifles doctors' incentives to develop new techniques, since it takes years before they are put into practice." One of the most incredible of Dr. Stallings' new techniques is a natural breast implant that he uses to rebuild a breast following a mastectomy. Given the enormous psychological problems involved in mastectomy cases, why isn't this procedure used as a matter of course? Says Dr. Stallings: "Most doctors don't know how to perform this type of reconstructive surgery. Their first concern is for the patient's health. It is only later that the woman may elect to have this surgery performed, provided she knows it is available and affordable." (While the doctor's services are free, the patient must still pay for those hospital costs that medical insurance doesn't cover.)

"The day you two learn how to use a can opener, it's all over between us."

Can a new mother afford to work? "In the first 18 months of life, the basic issue that confronts the newborn infant is establishing trust. If this sense of trust is not provided, the child may grow up less trusting, less open and unable to relate well to others," says Phyllis Magrab, pediatric psychologist and Georgetown University professor. "Where possible, the mother should stay home with the child because she is learning to adjust to her new child and to develop a pattern of response and relationship. But I want to stress that if you're not happy and fulfilled staying at home, your presence will be harmful. Mothers who return to work immediately because of financial necessity or career advancement should not feel guilty. One hour well-spent with an infant is far more important than a whole day ill-spent."

CELESTE HOLM
On pragmatism and pleasure

The veteran actress, Celeste Holm, talking about how she survives aging and modern times: "To most of us, maturity is synonymous with old age—a gloomy prospect to be sure. But to me, it means depth and the opportunity for relaxation. I have striven for that depth for a long time, and that has afforded me the confidence to try to sustain an individual point of view, which I guess is why I've been in this business for so many years and have weathered the storm of aging better than many of my peers. Do what is possible is my motto." Any advice for struggling young actresses? "Realize from the beginning that it isn't the parts you play, but the whole show that matters. That advice goes for young women who aren't actresses as well. Learn from people you admire, watch how they do it. Remember that you are not entitled to anything other than equal rights, and you won't think every little problem that comes along is a tragedy. Tragedy, after all, is the destruction of something marvelous." On Thursday, May 20 at 1:30 p.m. (EDT), you can see Celeste Holm in an ABC-TV special drama-documentary, "The American Woman: Portraits of Courage."

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

SOCK IT TO ME

I wear out socks at heels and toes,
And this my wife for certain knows.
She darns them (she's not cussing though)
Or says it's time to let them go
And buy some new ones at the store,
Convincing me I need some more,

Although they've seen a better day,
I hate to throw my socks away
With only toe or heel worn out,
No other holey part about.
I'd gladlier give up control
Of socks whose hole was in the sole.

After the orthodontist examined their son's teeth, he turned to the parents and advised, "Brace yourselves . . . !"

NATURE COLORS

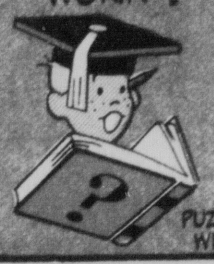
PACK RATS

COLOR THE PACK RAT BROWN

THE WOOD RAT IS SOMETIMES CALLED A PACK RAT BECAUSE OF ITS HABIT OF STEALING AND "PACKING OFF" BRIGHT OBJECTS WITH WHICH TO DECORATE ITS NEST.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

JAY LYSNE OF ALBERT LEA, MN, ASKS: "HOW DOES A TELESCOPE WORK?"



THE SIMPLEST KIND OF TELESCOPE CONSISTS OF A TUBE WITH A GLASS LENS AT EACH END. THE LENS AT THE FRONT OF THE TELESCOPE GATHERS THE LIGHT FROM A STAR OR OTHER OBJECT AND FOCUSES IT TO A SMALL, SHARP IMAGE ON THE LENS AT THE OTHER END. THIS LENS IS THE EYEPIECE LENS. IT ACTS LIKE AN ORDINARY MAGNIFYING GLASS AND GREATLY ENLARGES THE IMAGE FOR THE EYE. TELESCOPES MADE WITH LENSES ARE CALLED REFRACTING TELESCOPES.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — I picked up the following Pointer from the man who laid our floors. When I painted the walls I splattered the vinyl floor and it dried before I could clean it up. He told me to use hair spray on it, and this does work. Just aim the spray on the paint spot and it will rub off, as the paint simply dissolves. — J.D.H.

DEAR POLLY — A stiff vegetable brush is great to use for brushing crumbs from an angel food cake. —MRS. C.T.

Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, % this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY — Save those aluminum tins from frozen pies, and store a dozen or two in basement or garage. They're ideal throwaway containers for use when doing touch-up painting, plastering or whatever, requiring use of but small amounts of touch-up material. No, mess, no muss, no clean-up! —J.M.

DEAR POLLY — I regularly bleach my wooden spoons, rubber spatulas and other porous kitchen utensils in a chlorine bleach solution to remove discoloration, odor and germs. —MRS.P.C.

DEAR POLLY — Need a laundry bag? Use a pair of old pants hung from a coat hanger. Tie strong or ribbon around the bottom of each leg and paint or applique a "D" on one leg and an "L" on the other. Place dark clothes in one leg and light clothes in the other. — TERESA.

DEAR POLLY — I make very cute pin cushions from the tops of the smaller spray cans. Make a tiny pillow with cotton or old nylons, turn both ends of the pillow toward the center and stuff into the spray can top. I use a bit of glue around the top to hold it in place. Rickrack braid is glued around the can top to make it more attractive. These sell well for 50 cents each at bazaars and so on. — MRS. M.E.B.

DEAR POLLY — A small-size magnetic knife holder is great to hang in the bathroom to hold nail clippers, nail files, safety pins, small scissors, etc., within easy reach. —DOROTHY.

DEAR POLLY — To keep a shower curtain free of mildew, I spray a disinfectant on the inside and lower part of the outside. To dry, I take the bottom ends, bring them up to the outside of the top and pin top and sides with plastic clothespins. —A READER.
